HOLD FRANCONIA AND LUSITANIA

FIRING HEARD OFF MAINE COAST

BOOMING OF GUNS HEARD AT PORTLAND

Heavy firing was reported as having beeen heard early today off the Maine coast at Portland, Bath and Popham Beach.

The officers at the forts in Portland Harbor heard it, and many of them called up the newspapers to ask if they had any explanation.

The observatories were unable to see anything on account of the thick fog.

Life savers who patrolled Popham Beach all night discredit the reports and say the yheard no firing. They did hear the fog warnings from Pequin Island.

HOLD FRANCONIA; RECALL LUSITANIA

Within twenty minutes of her sailing hour, the Cunard liner Franconia was stopped from sailing for England by cabled orders from England.

Agent Charles Stewart of the Cunard line also received word that the Lusitania, which sailed for England last night at midnight, has been recalled and is now rushing back to New York.

Agent John H. Thomas of the International Mercantile Marine lines—White Star, Leyland, etc.—received orders today to cancel all outward sailings from Boston until further notice, which will be received on Friday.

The holding up of the Franconia caused great excitement on the dock in East Boston. Tugs were waiting with steam up alongside to pull the liner out of the docks. Good-byes had been said. All passengers were on the ship. The pilot was on the bridge. Agent Stewart was called to the telephone, received the startling news, and rushed on board the ship to notify Captain Miller.'

MYSTERY IN ORDER.

What caused the sudden change since 10 a. m. today when orders were received to sail is a mystery to the Cunard officials. Mr. Stewart said his orders were that in case the Franconia had already sailed he must recall her to Boston by wireless.

Over 500 passengers of all classes had booked to sail on the Franconia before the war became general today. Less than 200 of all classes were on board ready to go to England. Nearly all of these were either natives or citizens of the British Isles returning home after business or holiday trips in America.

About the only real American tourists to be found on the ship were Professor and Mrs. Albert E. Bailey of Amherst, who said they were not afraid.

GLOOMY SCENE ABOARD.

The sailing that was to be but wasn't was a gloomy one. Every one but actual passengers were barred from the ship. Policemen, sailors and ship's officers were at the gang-plank to see that no one boarded the vessel. Good-byes had to be said on the dock.

LAND FIGHTS

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—Official announcement of a victory over the German invaders at Liege was made at the war ministry today. It was stated that though the Germans bombarded Liege and the forts defending it, the Liege garrison defeated the Kaiser's infantry in a fierce encounter.

The Germans crossed the Meuse just south of Eysden, Netherlands, and pressed on to Liege, meeting desperate resistance all the way. At Liege they were forced to halt and the Belgian defenders, reinforced by the Liege garrison, rallied and attacked them fiercely.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—Vise is reported to be burning after bombardment by the Germans.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 5.—Germany invaded Holland in an attempt to rush troops across to aid in the invasion of Belgium and France. Fierce fighting is in progress, the Dutch troops falling back slowly before a steady German advance. The losses on both sides are heavy.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—German artillery is bombarding Namur at the junction of the Meuse and Sambre rivers, thirty-six miles southwest of Brussels. Namur is a city of 35,000 and strongly fortified. This report indicates that the German invaders are turning southward after heading for the French frontier.

MEMEL, Germany, Aug. 5.—Russians attacked Memel today but were repulsed by the garrison.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—The town of Argentau was shelled by German artillery today and is burning.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—German troops from Muelhausen attempted to enter France through the Vosges mountains today, but were forced back. Seventeen men of the German advance guard were killed.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—French troops defeated German soldiers today in a sharp fight at Morfontaine, the war office announces.

Cable to Azores Cut.

Word was received in Boston today by the German-Atlantic Cable Company that the cable from the Azores to New York has been cut. It is presumed that warships cut the cables. All communication between America and the Azores ceased at 1:30 a. m. today.

SEA FIGHTS

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The first naval battle in the Mediterranean has occurred and resulted in a crushing defeat for the German sea forces. The dispatches received today state that the French and British fleets effected a juncture while in pursuit of German warships that had been sighted off the northern coast of Africa. Coming up with the German ships off the coast of Morocco, the allies' combined fleets attacked them and after a hard fight sank one and captured two.

The warship that was sunk was the cruiser Panther and those captured were the cruisers Breslau and Goeben according to the advices received here. The first reports of the battle gave no details as to loss of life. The Admiralty has no official advices.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—After bombarding the Algerian towns of Bona and Phillippeville the German cruisers Goben, Breslau and Panther were caught in a trap between the British and French fleets.

In the battle that followed the Panther was sunk and the others captured.

The French Admiralty announced the German defeat today, saying that no further danger from German ships need be feared, and that the Austrian fleet had taken refuge in port.

MARGATE, Eng., Aug. 5.—A tremendous cannonade was heard far out at sea today, indicating that a great battle was on in the North Sea. The sound of the heavy gunfire drew all the residents of the city to the shore, but nothing could be seen there of any ships in action.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The French embassy officially announced today that the French fleet had captured a German cruiser.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Central News says Premier Asquith has received a report that two German battleships have been sunk or captured by the British fleet in the North Sea and that another escaped.

GRONINGEN, Netherlands, Aug. 5.—A squadron of dirigibles and aeroplanes supplied with bombs to drop upon the British warships arrived at Wilhelmshaven today and joined the German fleet. There are fourteen dirigibles and more than a score of aeroplanes assembled there.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—President Poincare called a special meeting of the Cabinet today shortly after it had been announced that German troops had entered France near Cirey and Luneville.

ENGLISH ACCEPT WAR IN GRIM SILENCE

By BURTON L. FRAZIER,

Staff Correspondent of the American

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The government's proclamation of a state of war between Great Britain and Germany was read today from the steps of the Royal Exchange with picturesque ceremonies. A huge crowd listened for the most part, in silence.

There is no showing of frenzied enthusiasm over the war here as there is in the other European capitals. The people are taking the situation quietly, but their grim determination plainly shows in their actions. They do not want war, but now that they must engage in it against their will they mean to proceed about it with thoroughness.

Although the war clouds began to sweep over Europe only a little less than two weeks ago, England is ready for war. Her huge fleet is ready to strike a terrible blow at the allied forces of Austria and Germany, and her army, small as it is, is in fine fighting condition. Every man is trained to the moment.

The war office announced that the government has taken control of all the railroad lines and gave out a list of the names of ten railroad general managers who are to act as a committee to operate the roads during the war.

The name of every general manager was included with the exception of that of Henry W. Thornton of the Great Eastern. Thornton formerly was connected with the Long Island Railroad, with offices in New York.

The only explanation for his exclusion from the committee is that he is not a naturalized citizen.

All the papers here today issued two special editions an hour.

The war office sent out notice instructing all regulars and reservists to proceed immediately to their appointed posts without waiting for an official call.

GERMANS KILL NOTED RUSSIAN AIR SCOUT

VIENNA, Aug. 5.—M. Sikorsky, the famous Russian aviator, was killed today by German sharpshooters when he attempted to scout over the Kaiser's troops north of Lemberg on the Russo-German frontier, according to a dispatch published by the Neue Freie Presse.

Two officers, who were accompanying Sikorsky and making maps of the country, were also killed.

The machine was sighted by the German soldiers shortly after dawn. It was then well over German territory.

When the alarm was given guns which had been brought from Berlin to prevent an attack by Russian aviators opened fire. The third shot struck the aeroplane and wrecked it, killing its three occupants.

FEAR HUB TEACHERS MAY NOT RETURN FOR SCHOOL OPENING

Among the thousands of Americans now in Europe are many teachers in the Greater Boston schools, and there is much anxiety lest they be unable to return to this country in time for the opening of school in the Fall. Among those from the Boston schools are:

JOHN C. BROADHEAD of Roslindale is in Germany, where he has been studying industrial education. He has not been heard from since war preparations.

JAMES M. McLAUGHLIN, director of music, is in England.

PAUL V. DONAVAN, master of the Blackinton School, is abroad.

MISS CATHARINE M. McGINLEY of the Dorchester High School.

MISS HELEN F. McCaffrey, supervisor of nurses.

MISS MARY BUCKLEY.

EDWARD F. O'DOWD, master of the Frothingham School.

HUGH J. McELANEY, sub-master of the Dudley School.

MISS GRACE RIPLEY of the Dorchester High School.

KAISER PARDONS JAIL PRISONERS; RUSSIAN BANK FUNDS SEIZED

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—The Kaiser today pardoned all prisoners in German jails except those held for felony, and ordered their immediate release.

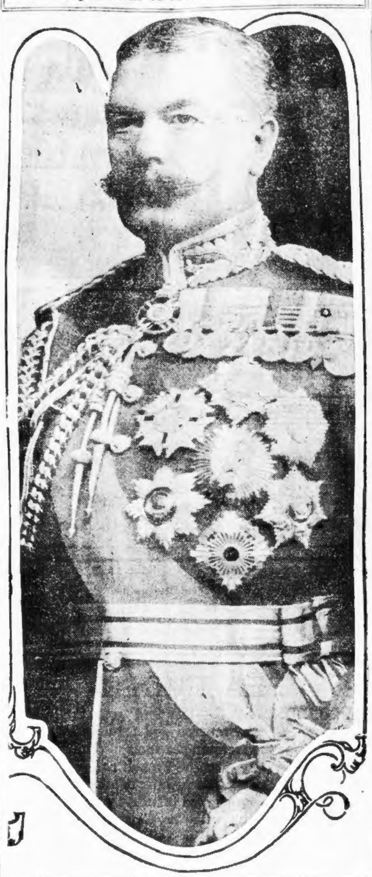
The Mendelsohn Bank and all other institutions handling Russian bonds have been closed. All funds belonging to Russia were seized today.

To feed the women and children, whose husbands and fathers have enlisted in the army, the federal council today appropriated $1,500,000.

Prince Adelbert, whose betrothal was recently announced, left today for Kiel to join his ship.

EARL KITCHENER

Will he be the Wellington of the Great European war of 1914?



WAR BULLETINS

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The British Admiralty announces that the government has taken over two battleships—one completed and the other nearly completed—ordered in England by Turkey and two destroyers ordered by Chile.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 5.—A German torpedo boat was blown up and sunk in the Baltic sea, off Godser, today. Thirty men were drowned. The Danish lightship, off the Godser reef, sent news of the disaster here and reported that a motor boat sent out to rescue the survivors had been unable to find any.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lord Haldane and Lord Kitchener were summoned to the war office today by Premier Asquith. Shortly afterward the cabinet was called into session.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 5.—Turkey today proclaimed its neutrality and closed the Dardanelles and Bosphorus to foreign vessels.

RIOTS IN ANTWERP.

ANTWERP, Aug. 5.—In consequence of anti-German riots that broke out here today martial law was declared. Attempts were made to burn German shops and kill their proprietors.

SHOOT AVIATOR.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—A German aviator flying over the Belgian frontier at a height of 125 feet was brought down today by a storm of Belgian bullets. His body was riddled and he was instantly killed.

ENGLISH AUTOS SEIZED.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Automobiles and horses were commandeered today by the government for war purposes. This is the first time in history that motor cars have been seized in England for military use.

EGYPT NEUTRAL.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 5.—Egypt has proclaimed neutrality in the European struggle.

COLONIES TO AID.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Cablegrams were received by King George today from the governor-generals of Canada and New Zealand pledging the united support of the British subjects there, and assuring him that they would make any sacrifice necessary to uphold the honor of the British empire.

BRITISH FLEETS TO UPHOLD TRADITIONS

LONDON, Aug. 5.—King George sent the following message to Admiral Sir John Jellicoe after the latter had been appointed commander of the British home fleet:

> At this grave moment in our national history I send to you and through you to the officers and men of the fleets of which you have assumed command assurances of my confidence that under your direction they will revive and renew old glories of the royal navy and prove once again the sure shield of Britain and her empire in the hour of trial.

Admiral Jellicoe replied today as follows:

> In behalf of the officers and men of the home fleet, I beg to tender dutiful thanks to Your Majesty for the gracious message, which will inspire all with determination to uphold the glorious traditions of the past.

FRENCHMEN MOVE

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Assured of England's support and protection of the French coast from German attack, France today hurled more than 1,000,000 men toward the frontiers of Germany and Belgium.

The army advancing on Germany will not stop at the border, but the troops advancing on Belgium will be held there unless King Albert appeals for help.

French Aviator Kills Six.

CHEMNITZ, Saxony, Aug. 5.—A French aviator dropped a number of bombs over Chemnitz early today. Six persons were killed and a number injured.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 5.—German troops invading Russian Poland are burning villages over an enormous stretch of territory. The war office announced today that the Russian army had established contact with the enemy along the greater part of the front near Bialobrzegi.

A German fleet of nineteen ships was signalled yesterday in the Baltic, sailing from Memel in the direction of Libau.

ROME, Aug. 5.—A special session of the cabinet was called today to decide whether Germany had been attacked by England and was therefore entitled to support by Italy.

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—The Japanese fleet was today ordered to be ready to put to sea. A German warship has been sighted in Tsuhima straits watching the vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet.

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—The Japanese Foreign Office issues a statement that if the war extends to the Far East, Japan may find it necessary to participate in fulfilment of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The Japanese cruiser Chiyoda, which is now at Kure, has been ordered to South China waters.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Three Americans, suspected of being spies, have been arrested in different parts of Germany. Seymour Beach Conger of Grand Rapids, Mich., the Berlin representative of the Associated Press, is a prisoner in Gubinnen, East Prussia. The other Americans arrested are preachers.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, said today he is going to enlist. He will give his automobiles to be used as ambulances.

U. S. TENDERS HER GOOD OFFICES AS MEDIATOR

WASHINGTON, Aug 5.—It was announced at the White House today that President Wilson yesterday tendered the good offices of the United States in hope of restoring peace to Germany, Russia, Austria-Hungary, France and England. The message follows:

"As official head of one of the powers signatory to the Hague convention, I feel it to be my privilege and my duty, under article 3 of that convention, to say to you in the spirit of most earnest friendship that I should welcome opportunity to act in the interest of European peace, either now or at any other time that may be thought more suitable, as an occasion to serve you and all concerned in a way that would afford me lasting cause for gratitude and happiness."

This message was transmitted to the various governments through the American embassies abroad. No reply has yet been received from any of the warring powers.

PLIGHT OF AMERICANS IS WORSE

PARIS, Aug. 5.—The scarcity of provisions in Paris and the withholding of money by the French banks today increased the seriousness of the situation in so far as it affected Americans.

Henry W. Diederich, the American Consul-General in Paris, has sent a cablegram to Washington asking the State Department to send a relief ship to relieve the distress of American citizens.

The French authorities will recognize a certificate signed and sealed by the American Consul and saying that the bearer is an American in lieu of other papers of identification so that any American may either remain in France or leave without hindrance from the military authorities.

The French line steamer Chicago is scheduled to sail from Havre on Saturday next. Colonel Calvin Brown has a plan to take passengers down the Seine to Havre in pleasure steamers.

While Ambassador Herrick was talking to the committee of Americans at his residence today one of his men servants asked if he might speak with him. Mr. Herrick came back greatly moved. The man had to obey the mobilization order, although he had been informed by his doctor that his wife could not survive the day.

HERRICK SHORT OF CASH.

All the men employed in the Ambassador's house have now gone or are going to join the colors. The American representative is so short of cash, owing to the requests of American citizens, that he has not enough money to pay off his servants.

Two thousand Americans, half or more of them women, who want to get home and don't know how or when they can leave Europe, met in a ball room. Jacob Gordon of New York presided and sketched the need of something being done by Washington.

The military administration has taken over all stocks of arms in the retail shops. It has requisitioned thousands of bicycles.

U. S. RELIEF WARSHIP TO SAIL TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—With eight million dollars in gold locked in her strong room, the swift cruiser Tennessee will sail from New York tomorrow morning to the relief of the Americans caught abroad by the European war without funds and means of returning to this country.

The North Carolina, armored cruiser, will sail later, the exact time not having been decided, also with gold for relief. The object of sending two vessels to the various European ports is to distribute the money more rapidly than would be possible with only one making the rounds.

Every preliminary arrangement for the trip has been completed and today there remained only the work of rushing through Congress the additional two million and a half dollar appropriation asked for by President Wilson.

Members of the House appropriation committee, where the bill must originate, gathered eagerly to prepare the measure, and leaders had the House machinery well oiled to pass the appropriation without a moment's delay. Similar preparations were made in the Senate and the members of the upper House were ready to hurry through the bill as soon as it reached them.

With $250,000 already appropriated this will increase the government's relief fund to nearly three millions.

In addition New York banking houses have ready more than five million dollars in gold for their clients abroad, according to the announcement of Secretary of War Garrison, Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge, Director E. P. Bicknell of the Red Cross, officials of the Treasury Department and a number of army officers have been designated to sail on the Tennessee to direct the distribution of the funds and attend to the relief work.

The House Appropriations committee voted to report the bill appropriating immediately $2,500,000 in gold to bring about 50,000 stranded Americans home from the European wa rzone. Secretary McAdoo told the comittee that it is intended to put the money on the armored cruiser Tennessee and send it abroad tomorrow. The ship will take about $5,000,000 supplied by the bankers of New York to take up letters of credit held by stranded Americans in Europe, and the plan is to distribute all of this money when it arrives in London through fiscal agencies approved by the President of the United States.

PLAN $200,000,000 U. S. REVENUE TAX

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Following a conference with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo with reference to emergency measures to make up the deficit in the government's income, which will follow the European war, Senator Simmons of North Carolina today stated that he will ask the adoption of an internal revenue tax measure to produce an equivalent of the $200,000,000 which the United States will lose annually as long as the war lasts.

ATTACK FRENCH FLEET.

MESSINA, Italy, Aug. 5.—The commander of the German squadron off Messina received orders by wireless today to join the Austro-Hungarian squadron from Trieste and attack the French fleet.

TURKEY MOBILIZES.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Turkey has informed Great Britain the forces of the Ottoman Empire are being mobilized, but the mobilization, that government says, is a precautionary measure and Turkey will remain neutral.

TREASURE SHIP'S PASSENGERS HERE

Boston passengers from the German treasure ship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which fled into Bar Harbor, Me., to escape capture, reached here early today aboard special cars from the Maine resort.

All rejoiced over their narrow escape from capture at sea with its probable attendant inconveniences. They were loud in their praise of Captain Polack, who brought them to safety in a dash through fog, menaced by at least one hostile warship.

Walter S. Hammons, a broker formerly of East Milton, told an exciting story of the race for a neutral port.

"We called the Cecilie 'the gloom ship,'" he declared. "Her lights were blotted out by a jacket of canvas extending over the upper works from bow to stern. All about as silent as a deserted church, her name painted out and her smokestacks disguised so that her identity might not be detected, she stole silently through fog and darkness with a speed that never fell below twenty-six knots.

"The steamer's orchestra was silenced after the vessel headed back for the United States, and singing rigidly prohibited.

"With polite firmness the officers maintained quiet, and even when the steamer struck into a heavy fog Saturday night and some of the women and a few Englishmen petitioned Captain Polack to use his fog horns, the quiet was only occasionally broken by the blast of a single whistle.

Last Friday night we learned that the vessel had changed its course. The moon was then discovered over our bow, while in the early evening it had attracted considerable attention over the stern. When this change was first noted it was believed that those who made the discovery had been drinking too freely.

The New York passengers accompanied the Bostonians a part of the way from Bar Harbor. At Portland they were switched to a train running through ventral Massachusetts.

AMERICAN PRELATES STRANDED IN ROME

ROME, Aug. 5.—There is a large number of stranded Americans here. A meeting called today was presided over by Professor Nicholson of Wesleyan College. It was decided to cable to the American government for assistance in getting home.

Three American prelates are among those caught here and they have appealed to the American ambassador, Thomas Nelson Page, for help in returning. They are Bishop Hann of San Francisco, Bishop Henessy of Wichita and Bishop Matz of Denver.

Members of the American Library Association are stranded at Florence.

Many hotels have volunteered to take care of the Americans until the situation is relieved and they are able to secure funds.

BYRON CHANDLER TELLS OF PERILOUS FLIGHT FROM PARIS TO LONDON

RICH AMERICANS IN LONDON BUY STEAMER

By LAWRENCE ELSTON.

Staff Correspondent of the American.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The panic among the thousands of Americans stranded in London was partially relieved today when it was announced that a few of the wealthy men caught here with their countrymen by the outbreak of war would purchase the steamer Viking, 5,500 tons, and having cabin accommodations for 400 passengers.

The Viking will sail from Liverpool for New York on Monday, August 10.

The committee invited Americans in distress to file applications for bookings at their headquarters at the Savoy Hotel.

William C. Breen, counsel for the Merchants Association of New York, has arrived here from Paris after adventures in escaping from the continent which read like the most approved fiction. He expressed doubt of the ability of any more Americans to get away from the countries now plunged into war. The last incident before his boat sailed from Boulogne was typical of everything that happened along the route.

"The Frenchmen all knew how desperate we are to get home," he explained. "They stopped at nothing to make profits out of our mad rush. At Boulogne they withheld the labels which it is necessary to have pasted on luggage to get through. The customs officers sold them at any price they could get. I paid $10 for two, only to discover that some other French porter was holding out the paste itself, trying to charge $5 to paste on each label. I beat out this gouge by wiping off paste from trunks already labelled until I accumulated enough on my fingers to paste on my two labels myself."

BYRON CHANDLER'S STORY.

Byron Chandler of Boston, husband of Grace LaRue, was another victim who just escaped being stranded in France.

"I went to Deauville on Saturday," he said, "and intended to stay several weeks. I had just unpacked my trunk when the Hotel Royal was ordered closed by the authorities. The guests were hustled out, their baggage piled in the courtyard, and nobody had even time to get the clothes left behind in their rooms. At the same time the servants and porters left to join the army and 200 guests were left flat. All of us finally jammed into a little boat licensed to carry eighty persons, and were taken to Havre. Our baggage is still at Dieppe because there was no room for it abraod. The hotel let me go without paying my bill rather than take English gold. At Havre another big crowd of refugees was waiting. Many carried underclothing and all sorts of things in their arms.

"The train had been held up four miles outside Havre and the passengers ordered to open their trunks and take such things as they could carry and leave the rest. The train went no farther. All had to walk to the Havre docks. Twenty-one automobiles belonging to Americans were left at docks to the mercy of the soldiers, the owners preferring the loss of the cars to missing the channel steamer."

CHANGED HIS PLANS.

John Knox Stevens of New York arrived in the morning on the Minnewaska and went immediately to Charing Cross station, where he found a train leaving for Paris at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. When he left New York, Stevens intended spending a month or two with his wife and sister-in-law in a suburb of Paris, where he expected to become a father, but wireless messages received aboard ship caused him to change his plans so as to do everything in his power to get his wife out of the war zone before the birth.

At the American embassy he told Second Secretary Bell of his situation and got an emergency passport in short order. He rushed to the French embassy, where he got the passport vised and just managed to catch the train. He plans to get his wife and sister-in-law back to London and by ship to New York if possible.

Mrs. G. F. Waters of New York, whose daughter married a French count and who came to London on the last trip of the Mauretania to visit her daughter after a four-years' separation, started for Paris last Friday. An hour after she reached Paris Saturday her son-in-law, an officer of cuirrasiers, started for the frontier, taking his wife, who will be placed in a nearby fortress.

ROBBED IN STATION.

Mrs. Waters left alone began the trip back to London.

"Paris was in an uproar," she said. "The streets were packed with cheering mobs, the railway station was a madhouse jammed to suffocation by yelling, fighting human animals struggling to board the train. In the confusion somebody in that surging mob stole my pocketbook and handbag containing all my money and jewels. Before I could find my luggage I was literally hurled into the train and had to leave it behind.

"Flung into a dirty compartment with twenty others I suffered indescribable tortures in the foul air and heat for hours. The train was stopped twice and everybory was dragged out by soldiers seeking spies. One man, said to be deserting, was taken away to be shot. At Dieppe we were all packed aboard a boat until it was nearly ready to capsize. We had no money to buy food and no chance to rest, as every inch of deck was occupied by snoring, cursing men."

Mrs. Waters is now at the Berkeley Hotel.

AMERICAN LINER HALTED.

Dr. George F. Root, Henry McManus and S. B. Hamell of Philadelphia were bound for Antwerp on the American liner Finland. When off the Isle of Wight last night they were stopped by a British torpedo boat and the vessel searched for contraband of war. The same thing happened again off Portsmouth Harbor. This time the captain of the Finland was warned to keep out of the North Sea or he might get hurt. It was hinted that a big battle on the sea was expected at any hour.

Later at Dover a harbor boat came out and ordered the Finland to anchor and discharge all cabin passengers, who were sent to London by the naval authorities. Still later the Finland was ordered back to Southampton with the steerage passengers to await further orders.

The Great Eastern Railway Company has issued a notice stating that the company would accept and cash express company checks, travelers' checks and similar paper all day Thursday, but that no more than $50 would be given to any individual.

The American citizens' committee is doing herculean work to provide temporary relief for the men and women who are actually suffering for want of proper food and shelter, to obtain sufficient steamship accommodations to get them all home as speedily as possible.

Eighty thousand Americans are known to be trying to get out of the Continent to make their way to London. Worse still it is known that here are 50,000 Americans scattered from Norway to Greece who are so far away from any chance of transportation that their plight must be desperate.

These figures are based on the known fact that 100,000 Americans crossed the ocean this Summer, and that only 20,000 returned before the outbreak of hostilities by the Austria and Servia governments. Ten thousand Americans are stranded in London, most of them without cash or clothes beyond what is on their backs. They have left their luggage behind them on the Continent, from which they have fled precipitately.

ITALY MAY FIGHT WITH GERMAN ALLY

By BRIXTION L. ALLAIRE.

ROME, Aug. 5.—The war party is demanding that Italy rescind her declaration of neutrality and join with Germany and Austria. There has been a remarkable change of sentiment as a result of dispatches from London saying that England had declared war on Germany.

A subsequent dispatch stating that the British foreign office had placed responsibility for the war on Germany came too late to alter the widespread demand that Italy act in accord with the treaty binding the Triple Alliance.

This binds Italy, Austria and Germany to help each other if attacked by a foreign foe. Heretofore Germany has been clearly the aggressor, but if it is established that England took the initiative against Italy's ally the government probably will be forced to act.

A special meeting of the cabinet was called today to determine whether Germany had been attacked and was therefore entitled to Italy's support.

Dispatches today from Newport, England, said that the Hamburg-American freighter Belgia, which sailed from Boston July 24, has been forced to put into that port and has been seized.

The Belgia, Captain Schmidt, had tried to communicate with the German consul, and the dispatches said she was short of coal.

The Belgia sailed from Boston to Hamburg, by way of Baltimore and Norfolk. She carried a quantity of wheat, 1,553 bales of cotton waste, 1,000 barrels of wood alcohol, and other cargo.

Her agents, Patterson, Wylde & Co., were surprised to hear she was short of coal, as they said she left here with enough to carry her over and back again.

The Belgia is a twin screw steamer of 5,175 tons. She was built in Belfast in 1902.

It was reported that she had gold aboard. This the Boston agents say is not true.

REFUGEES BEG FOR TRAIN AND STEAMER TO GET BACK TO U. S.

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—American tourists marooned in Switzerland have begged the Washington government to aid them by procuring a train in which they may traverse France and a steamer by which they may cross the Atlantic.

The United States legation in Berne has been in anxious consultation with the American consulates throughout Switzerland the past two days. It is being besieged by needy Americans.

American paper money is useless and wealthy people are penniless. The situation is serious, as the sufferers cannot receive replies to their cables.

Train service on all four frontiers has been interrupted. The mobilization of the Swiss army will be complete today.

RAPID RISE OF ENGLAND'S NAVAL CHIEF

Vice-Admiral Sir George Astley Callaghan, who is now in command of the great British fleet and who will probably command the allied naval forces of Great Britain, France and Russia, is sixty-one years old. On him the allies base their hopes for success in the present war.

He is an Irishman, for he was born in County Cork, Ireland. His father was Frederic M. Callaghan, a justice of the peace.

Admiral Callaghan's rise was brilliant. His first important commission was that of captain in command of the H. M. S. Hermione in 1894, later commanding the warships [illegible], Edgar, Caesar and Prince of Wales.

[illegible] to 1897 he was a naval aid-de-camp to King Edward VII. and naval adviser to the inspector-general of fortifications. In 1900 he commanded the naval brigade for the relief of legations at Peking, China, and in 1906 he was made rear-admiral of the channel fleet.

He was in command of the Mediterranean fleet from 1908 to 1910, when he was made commander of the second division home fleet.

Admiral Callaghan was married in 1876 to Edith Saumarez. He was a Companion of the Bath in 1900, Commander of the Royal Victorian Order in 1907, Knight Commander of the Royal Victorian Order in 1909 and Knight Commander of the Bath in 1910. He is a member of the United Service Club.

SCOUT POSSIBILITY OF INVOLVING U. S. THROUGH THE CANAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Military authorities and diplomats in Washington today scouted the idea that the United States faces the probability of being drawn into the European war because of the Panama Canal. It was pointed out by Secretary of War Garrison that after the canal is opened to the traffic of the world, which is set for August 15, any warship of any nation will have the right under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty "of peaceable and uninterrupted" passage through it. A prominent member of the diplomatic corps called attention to the fact that the United States is the common friend of all the belligerents.

ARREST AMERICANS IN GERMANY AS SUSPECTED SPIES

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Three Americans, suspected of being spies, have been arrested in different parts of Germany. All asked for aid from the American embassy in Berlin.

Seymour Beach Conger of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been a prisoner since Saturday in Gubinnen, Prussia. He was arrested while making for St. Petersburg. Ambassador Gerard conferred with officials of the ministry of foreign affairs, who promised to make an investigation of the case at once.

The other Americans arrested are preachers. One of them is named Laidlaw. Both were arrested near the Swiss frontier. They aroused suspicion on account of their activity in taking photographs.

The American embassy is telling the throngs of Americans who ask continually for advice and help that during the next five or six days it will scarcely be possible to leave Germany. The entire railway system will be used for the transportation of troops.

Many arrests of suspected spies take place hourly. A Russian disguised as a German naval officer was arrested on Unter den Linden.

GERMAN LINERS RUN GAUNTLET INTO NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—After successfully running the gauntlet of hostile warships supposed to be scouting the high seas between this country and Europe, the President Lincoln of the Hamburg-American line arrived today at Hoboken. She sailed from Hamburg last Wednesday with 863 passengers.

The steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. also arrived in port safely.

The British steamer Etonian of the Phoenix line, which sailed last night for Antwerp, put back to port this morning, after she received word that England and Germany are at war.

Making the fastest trip in her history and with the vessel in darkness part of the trip, the liner Olympic reached port today.

"For four nights," said Captain Haddock, "we proceeded with no lights aboard save the necessary ship's lights. Never have I found the ocean so queer. Hardly a vessel spoke to another over its wireless. We sighted the British cruiser Essex off Halifax, but she did not convoy us to New York. We could have outdistanced any hostile ship at the speed we were going."

Face Peeling Easy—Blonde or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. "The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercolized wax. Used every night, this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate underskin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.

ADMIRAL MAHAN PREDICTS THAT ITALY WILL TURN AGAINST GERMANY

"DECISIVE STROKES WILL BE MADE AT SEA"

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Rear-Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., retired, who a day ago declared that England would be forced to take part in the European war, predicted today that in a very short time, Italy also would be drawn into the conflict and that she would be found fighting against her former allies, Germany and Austria. Greece also, he says, will soon be in action.

"The most decisive strokes in the general European warfare will be delivered in my belief upon the sea rather than upon the land," he declared.

"I look for an all round naval conflict which should teach many things about sea fighting, about guns and about armament."

MAY LEARN WORTH OF SHIPS.

"What will happen?" he was asked, "when dreadnought meets dreadnought, when the tremendously powerful modern superbattleships, with their fourteen-inch guns and their thousand or more men to the ship, get together? Will the problem of their worth, their effectiveness be settled?"

"The problem of the A-B-G or 'All-Big-Gun' ship is a highly interesting one," Admiral Mahan replied, "and we may learn through this war of its worth. But the lesson will not be shown in any ship-for-ship fight. Dreadnought against dreadnought will be no different than one old frigate against another old frigate in the day gone by.

"The really interesting and instructive combat would be between say a dozen dreadnoughts and a dozen and a half smaller vessels, for instance of ordinary battleship size. We might then see whether or not the twelve and fourteen-inch gun is of so great importance as has lately been assumed."

TEST FOR BIG GUNS.

The admiral intimated that from what data he had been able to obtain it was likely that the very big gun might prove to be a much over rated weapon.

"In the Russo-Japanese war I believe—and many other naval officers agree with me—that the bulk of the damage was done by the eight and ten-inch guns," he said. "In that conflict I think it was shown that the volume of fire, the number of hits, was much more important than the single shots from great guns, and I believe this war will prove the same thing.

"For example imagine a single shot from a fourteen-inch gun hitting an enemy's ship. It does tremendous damage certainly. But one might almost say it does too much damage. That is, it exerts more power than is necessary to cripple the adversary. Two shots from eight-inch guns would be much more effective in battle that one fourteen-inch shot.

SCORES DREADNOUGHTS.

"I cannot say that I agree with the idea of the A-B-G ships. England, of course, originated the dreadnought, and cackled like a chicken that had laid an egg and got every one else building A-B-G's. But I think all the navies are coming around to what we call the 'mixed battery' ship, and that is as it should be.

"The original dreadnought idea was a ship with all big guns of twelve- or fourteen-inch calibre and a few small guns, say three- or four-inch calibre, for use against torpedo boats. But the size of the lesser battery has been creeping up year by year, until our newest ships have six-inch guns with the fourteens, and, I understand, some vessels have eight-inch guns, which are pretty sizable weapons for any use.

"I believe this war will show that a well distributed fire by the medium sized guns will do much more damage than the slower, single shots of the big fellows."

"May this possibly mean a return to the use of smalled calibre guns?" Admiral Mahan was asked.

"The results of the naval battles will tell what cannot be said now," he replied.

The Admiral declined to comment upon the comparative fighting ability or gunnery of the nations involved or to be involved. Nor would he advance any theory as to the damage likely to be inflicted upon the extremely large fighting craft by submarines or by air craft.

"The submarine question and the airship question, neither ever tested out thoroughly, will doubtless receive considerable elucidation in the conflicts to come," he said. "There would be no use predicting what effect either of these attack methods may have. We shall probably learn much about them in a short time."

The Admiral commented briefly upon the international entanglements, and reiterated his belief that Italy will soon be found fighting against her fellow-members of the Triple Alliance.

"Greece is intimating," he said, "that she intends to side with her allies, Servia and Montenegro. The Greek navy, reinforced by the ships bought of the United States, could perform great service by keeping reinforcements of Turks from coming from Asia Minor.

"Austria replies to this intimation of Greece by declaring that she will blockade the coast of Greece. Then the question arises immediately: Will Italy put up with that? I believe not.

"I believe Italy will be forced to take action in this matter and certainly France will with her fleet on the Mediterranean.

"There is no way in which the French navy can do better work than in aiding Greece. The Mediterranean I believe may be the theatre of some lively fighting."

Don't Be Misled if You Have Lung Trouble

If you have Lung Trouble, do not be misled by reports of discoveries of specifics to relieve that affection. No specific has as yet been found. Eckman's Alterative, however, is a medicine for throat and lung troubles which has been successfully used in many cases. If you are sick, it might be wise for you to investigate its merits and its use may be of lasting benefit to you. Read of this case:

392 Seventh Ave., New York.

"Gentlemen—Five years ago last August I was taken to St. Francis' Hospital to be treated for Bronchitis and congested lungs. After several weeks' treatment I was advised by the doctor to go to a convalescent sanitarium but could not be admitted because the doctor at the hospital, after a thorough examination, declared my case Lung Trouble, and gave me a certificate to that effect. I showed the certificate to Father Stark, and he advised me to take Eckman's Alterative. I took the Alterative faithfully as directed, and soon found myself free from night sweats and fever, and gradually got better. I have not taken the Alterative now for two years, and can truthfully say I am well. I feel better and am stronger than before my sickness."

(Affidavit.) MARY KORHAMER.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitute. Small size $1.00. Regular size $2.00. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.

FLEETS IN NORTH SEA DEATH GRAPPLE

FATE OF ALL EUROPE HANGS IN BALANCE

LONDON, Aug. 5.—An ominous calm has followed Great Britain's declaration of war against Germany. Wireless messages have been flashing out over the North Sea, where England's great fighting fleet is known to be within striking distance of the flower of the Kaiser's navy.

Naval experts believe that what will probably be the greatest battle in all history will be fought within a few hours if the issue has not already been decided. The seizure of all cable lines by the British government has made it impossible to get news from the Continent, and the populace is breathlessly awaiting the issue that is likely to decide the fate of Europe.

Both Nations Declare War.

The ultimatum delivered by Great Britain to Germany would have expired at midnight. At 11 o'clock a peremptory refusal to Great Britain's demands was received in London. Almost simultaneously Great Britain and Germany declared war.

No one knows what has happened at sea since that moment. For years the British have listened to the tale of German officers on board of every German warship drinking a silent toast at nightfall of each day to "The Day."

And now "The Day" has come, the most fateful day in Europe's history since Napoleon ranged himself against the united powers just as William II. is doing today.

The British army will not long remain upon English soil. With Lord Kitchener in supreme command, it will be sent into France or Belgium. Only one event can hold it back—the annihilation of the British fleet in the battle now impending in the North Sea.

The Old Score to Be Settled.

Great Britain today is aflame with anger against Germany. An old score is at last to be settled and London is already prophesying the passing of Germany from the dominant powers of the world.

Supreme confidence is felt in the genius of Kitchener and Callaghan. England believes they will take their places beside Wellington and Nelson.

At the opening of the most stupendous world conflict ever waged, London is still almost stupefied over the mad speed of events. When Germany challenged Russia and France in quick succession, making no attempt to postpone one conflict until the first could be settled, statesmen here wondered if the nation had suddenly gone insane.

Now that Great Britain has been involved upon a point of neutrality that might easily have been put off for days by the Kaiser and his advisers, the great question that is agitating every mind is: What hidden reliance has Germany?

Everyone knows the strength of the German army and the astounding development of the navy. But everyone believes that were the army and navy multiplied ten-fold, it could not cope against practically all the rest of Europe, especially in an offensive war such as Germany has determined upon.

British Alarmists Are Dazed.

Alarmists here, dazed by Germany's apparent desire to have no allies except Austria, prophesy that Germany has some unknown explosive or some undreamed-of new instrument of war.

But the general impression in London is that the desire for war, which has been seething in German breasts for a quarter of a century, has stultified the thinking ability of the nation.

To observers here, it seems that Britain's ancient enemy has determined upon an arrogant suicide.

Until the break came between Great Britain and Germany, attention was focussed upon the frontier between France and Germany. All the preliminaries to a great battle were witnessed upon that historic boundary.

How to Forward Money to Friends Marooned Abroad

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Sending money to relatives and friends marooned by the war in Europe is a simple procedure as explained today by Wilbur J. Carr, chief of the Consular Service.

Send to the State Department a certified check, draft or postal money order, payable to "Chief, Bureau of Accounts, State Department." State plainly the name of the person (full name), city and address, if any, abroad.

The money will be cabled immediately to the nearest American consul who will issue local currency or a draft (United States Warrant upon the State Department, payable to the payee, who calls at the consulate).

WAR CHECKS DIPLOMATS' VACATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—War in Europe has cut short the vacations of foreign diplomats in this country and has brought back to the embassies and legations here ambassadors, ministers, attaches, councillors and secretaries who, in normal times make Newport, Bar Harbor, Manchester, Mass., and other resorts their Summer headquarters.

The representatives, not only of the nations involved, but of many others are returning to Washington to be in the most direct communication with their home governments. Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who has been in Newport, is expected here hourly. Baron Horst Von Lerener, attache, has taken charge of the embassy here. Ambassador Jusserand is in France, but booked to sail this week. Charge Clausee and the French staff are expected here from Manchester the latter part of the week. Ambassador Dumba of Austria and Ambassador Bakmatieff of Russia ,also have ordered their embassies made ready for their return.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, is in England, but practically a full staff is in charge of the embassy. Viscount Chinda and the entire Japanese staff are here.

Frye, Harvard Star, Is Safe in Berlin

MARLBORO, Aug. 5.—A cablegram was received today from Berlin announcing that Russell B. Frye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B.Fryeand pitcher for the Harvard varsity nine, was safe in that city. He left here three weeks ago with his uncle H. M. Hazelton and was expected in Paris this week.

Cruiser Montana Gets Rush Order

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 5.—Rush orders have been received at the Portsmouth Navy Yard from Washington to prepare the armored cruiser Montana for immediate service. It is thought she is wanted to convoy transports bringing back American tourists from the war zone.

Cruiser to Take Envoy to Germany

LONDON, Aug. 5.—It was announced this afternoon that a British cruiser would be furnished to convey the German ambassador to Germany. Otherwise he would have to remain in England, passenger traffic with the continent having ceased.

Light Curtailment in Cotton Mills

FALL RIVER, Aug. 5.—The Cotton Manufacturers' Association has decided not o take part collectively in any concerted plan of curtailment. The intenions at this time are for light curtailment, if any.

AGREE NOT TO RAISE RATES ON INSURANCE

Agreement to refrain from increasing fire insurance rates locally until after a conference with Mayor Curley's committee of ten, if that committee will refrain from carrying its fight against the Board of Fire Underwriters up to the courts, featured the insurance situation in this city.

John N. Cole, chairman of the Curley-appointed committee, and Edward M. Wood, chairman of the board in question, were responsible for this agreement. Under the terms the committee of tn will not make immediate application for its threatened injunction against the underwriters. Neither will any early federal probe into the Boston situation be asked for, as contemplated.

The committee of ten and representatives of the fire underwriters, in the meantime, are to get together and thresh out their differences. If the tentative agreement reached today can be made permanent, no furthr action on either side will be necessary. But it is said that Mayor Curley insists that no material increase in local insurance rates shall obtain in any event.

Prof. Munsterberg Defends the Kaiser

Professor Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard, who was supposed to be in Europe, is spending the Summer in Clifton. In a public statement today, he pleaded for fair play for the Germans and Austrians.

"Is it possible," he says, "to doubt that Emperor William desired nothing but honorable peace with all the world? For twenty-five years he has been the most efficient power for European peace. Can any sane man really believe the slander that all was a long prepared game which Austria was to start and in which Germany would wilfully force the furies of war into the Russian realm?"

U. S. Money Orders to Egypt Suspended

By orders from Washington the money order business between the United States and Egypt and the Soudan was today suspended.

HAIR FELL OUT IN HANDFULS

Head Covered With Dandruff. Scaled Off. Could Be Seen Plainly. Itched and Burned. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Rid of Trouble.

R. F. D. No. 2, Milo, Maine.—"My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched so I could not sleep. My head was covered with dandruff and I scratched it until there were little sore places all over my head in the form of pimples. They would itch and burn and the dandruff was so thick it scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. My hair fell out in handfuls when I combed or brushed it. It was awful the way it came out and I was afraid I would lose all my hair.

"The trouble had lasted about three months and I had tried a number of soaps and salves which failed to help me. Then I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and thought I would try them. I washed my head with Cuticura Soap and put the Cuticura Ointment on. My hair stopped falling out, the sores healed and in five weeks' treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely rid of the trouble. The dandruff was gone." (Signed) Mrs. B. Hussey, Jan. 31, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Avoid Danger of Blood Infection

Get Your Blood Strong to Resist Daily Perils

A host of people have thanked their lucky star to have used S. S. S. for the blood instead of those dangerous drugs such as mercury, calomel, arsenic, etc. It is an easy matter to get the blood poisoned from contact with disease germs. They lurk in almost everything we touch or handle and a slight scratch or skin abrasion is often the gate of entrance for a vast army of germs. If the blood is impure, if pimples, boils, eczema or other eruptive conditions make the skin a danger spot use S. S. S. at once and fortify the system. Get your blood strong and full of red corpuscles to renew tissue health. Let S. S. S. keep down tendency of all germs to multiply and your skin will soon renew itself. These facts are explained in a beautiful book just issued and will be mailed free by the Swift Specific Co., 110 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist but insist that you will have nothing else.

For more detailed directions write the Medical Dept., as suggested in circular around the bottle.

You can get othine, double strength, at your druggist.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

MOUNTAINS GET RESORTERS AS WAR LOOMS UP

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fall of Dorchester, with their three interesting daughters, the Misses Marion, Florence and Gertrude, are enjoying their vacation in the White Mountains.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, who is remaining at her country estate this Summer instead of going to Newport as usual, had planned to spend the remainder of the Summer abroad, but owing to the war has changed her plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene V. R. Thayer were also planning to sail this week, but were obliged to cancel the passage.

One of the interesting engagements of the week is that just announced of Miss Elsie Burr, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr of Marlboro street and Milton, to John Templeton Coolidge, 3d. Miss Burr was presented two years ago. Her sister, Miss Barbara Burr, is also well known in the younger smart set. Her brothers are I. Tucker Burr, who married Miss Evelyn Thayer last Autumn, and Carlton Burr.

Mr. Coolidge is the only son of John Templeton Coolidge of Beacon street, whose Summer home is at Wentworth Mansion, Portsmouth, N. H. The family is there at present, after spending the Winter and early Spring abroad. Mr. Coolidge is a Harvard '11 man and a member of the Tavern Club.

This is the wedding day of Miss Alice Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of Ipswich and New York, to Clarence L. Hay, son of the late John Hay, Secretary of State. The ceremony takes place in the Ascension Memorial Church, Ipswich, and a small reception follows at the beautiful Hay estate nearby. Mr. Hay and his bride will make their home in Washington next Winter, residing in the house on Sixteenth street which has been the home of the Hay family for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Thurston of Haverhill have announced the engagement of their daughter, Hazel Marie, to Bernard E. Farr of the same city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Emlen Hutchinson are entertaining this afternoon at their beautiful Beverly Farms estate. The affair is known as a "chansons en costume" and Mrs. Hutchinson will be soloist at the affair as well as hostess. Mrs. Hutchinson, who is one of the most accomplished singers of her exclusive set, will present three groups of songs in costume.

Miss Habel T. Boardman, after her strenuous work in behalf of the Salem sufferers, is now at Murray Bay, Canada, visiting friends. She will later be a house guest of former President Taft and family. Miss Boardman will return the twenty-second of the month. Her sister, Mrs. Frederick Keep, is at Manchester with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman, and will remain there until September. The other daughter, Mrs. Winthrop Murray Crane, is planning to come on from Dalton for a short visit in early September.

Of interest to a wide circle is the recently announced engagement of Miss Bertha Whitmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swanton C. C. Whitmore of Dover street, Cambridge, to Jesse Carl Biggs of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. The wedding will take place at the Episcopal Church of the Advent, Brimmer street, Boston, August 10, the Rev. John Higginson Cabot officiating.

Miss Janet Marker of Detroit, will be maid of honor. Mrs. Charles W. Whitmore, a sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Charles R. Morgan of Cambridge, will be bridesmaids. The best man will be A. P. Jell of Cambridge and Roy and Charles Whitmore, brothers of the bride, will be ushers.

Mrs. Glover Faces Trial Next Tuesday

Facing trial next Tuesday is Lillian W. Glover, forty-four, of Waltham, held on a warrant charging her with forging, uttering, conspiracy to steal and perjury, in connection with the settlement of the estate of her husband, Clarence F. Glover, who was slain in his Waltham laundry about five and a half years ago.

Wellington District Protests Factories

In a petition to be presented to the City Council, citizens of Wellington, part of Medford, have protested against the erection of a saw mill on Bradbury avenue, near the Fellsway, which it was proposed to build there. A protest against a gas plant there has already been made.

Brookline Girl Sues Police for $15,000

Lotta H. Lindbladh of Brookline brought suit for $15,000 today in the Norfolk County Court at Dedham, against Medical Examiner Timothy Leary and Police Inspectors Armstrong, Lynch and McCarthy, of Boston. The plaintiff alleges the defendants forcibly entered her dwelling house, carried her away, and for three days detained her at the City Hospital. She declares she was subjected to a "painful, humiliating and unnecessary" physical examination.

GENERAL GRUB LEADS ARMY OF WORMS TO HUB

At 8 a. m. today General Grub, at the head of six "empty" regiments of army worms, appeared before Boston on the West and fiercely attacked the garden outskirts of Arlington and Belmont.

Furious fighting ensued and assault after assault was repulsed by the descendents of Revolutionary farmers whose fighting instincts, handed down grom their ancestors who drove the British back to Boston, were aroused by the sudden attack of the worm army.

Considerable complaint was made that no formal declaration of war was served before the attack and that General Grub just started in to eat his way into Boston without the least attempt at diplomacy.

Every worm soldier wore a hard shell helmet and carried his ammunition in his mouth.

Many innocent victims were sacrificed in the first skirmish, when whole families of lettuce, beets, radishes and turnips bit the dust without a chance of defence.

Strenuous measures are being taken by the State Forester in charge of the Massachusetts Farmers' Brigade to stop the onward advance of the worm invaders and large quantities of ammunition in the form of arsenic and Paris green is being hurridly distributed (for cash) to the farmers by the patriotic merchants.

It is rumored that General Grub is having trouble with his first chief, General Fuzewozz, and may be ordered to retire, also that the six great powers—Farmers, Statesmen, Foresters, Bug Experts, George Fred Williams and "Jerry" Watson—may come together to arrange some terms of settlement satisfactory to both sides.

It is suggested that General Grub and his army may be induced to turn their attention to gypsy moths and flies (still unswatted) instead of garden truck.

'No Honor to Serve the Commonwealth'

WORCESTER, Aug. 5.—Dr. Samuel B. Woodward, trustee of the Worcester State Hospital for fifteen years, has tendered his resignation to the Governor because his official hands are tied by a new law regulating the control of Massachusetts institutions for the care of the insane. In resigning, Dr. Woodward gave his opinion that there is neither honor nor utility in continuing to serve the Commonwealth.

Porte Quits for War Curtiss to Fly Ocean

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—John C. Porte, British navy lieutenant, who was to have piloted the Wanamaker flying boat, America, on its attempted transatlantic flight, has decided to return at once to England, as he is a reservist. It was said Glen H. Curtiss, designer and builder of the airboat, will pilot her on the proposed flight.

Motor News

By J. C. KERRISON.

President Harry W. Ford of the Saxon Motor Car Company spent the latter part of the week in Boston looking over the local situation and preparing for an extensive campaign in the very near future. Mr. Ford is on a tour of inspection throughout the eastern section of the country and will return to Boston about the middle of the week. He is very optimistic as to the future and can see no cause to believe that there will be any diminution of the present great activities in the motor world, even though European complications might develop to a still greater degree.

R. F. Coburn, district manager of the Maxwell Motor Company, returns this morning from an extended trip throughout New England, having in his pocket enough orders from Maxwell agents to cut a decided figure in the allotment due New England. Mr. Coburn says that never in his experience has the interest throughout New England been so great as it is at the present time, and there is no question in his mind but what the coming season will be a record one.

The two o'clock train from the South station yesterday afternoon carried a large number of New England automobile men whose destination was Detroit, where the annual Packard convention opens today, closing Friday night. Alvan T. Fuller, owner of the Packard Motor Car Co. of Boston headed the party, and among those who accompanied him were F. C. Graves, C. A. Robinson, F. E. W. Howe, Allan N. Davis, H. R. Edwards, Harry Ludwig, H. R. Rasmussen and L. R. Mack.

Thaw Sheriff Hunts Man After Wife Is Killed with Iron

COLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 5.—Sheriff Kelsea, who held up Harry K. Thaw in his flight from Matteawan to Canada, today headed a posse of fifty special deputy sheriffs in pursuit of Fred Brown, who the authorities charge, killed Mrs. Brown with a flatiron.

Brown, it is said, entered the house with a rifle and a razor in his hand. Two women who were there said the rifle did not work and that they closed in on Brown and took away the razor. According to the authorities, Brown then shook off the women, seized a flatiron and beat his wife into insensibility, after which he took his gun and climbed into his team, heading toward the Stewartstown woods.

Droppers Named as Minister to Greece

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Professor Garrett A. Droppers of Williams College has been nominated by President Wilson to be Minister to Greece, succeeding George Fred Williams of Boston, whose resignation was demanded because of his criticism of the powers in Albania.

Two Killed in New England by Autos

Edmund D. Bernard of No. 143 Harvard avenue, Allston, was killed at Berlin, N. H., when the automobile he was driving turned turtle. In Clinton George Bartlett, sixty-five, of South Lancaster, was killed by a car driven by Peter F. Ward of Fitchburg.

Wife Has Retired Minister Arrested

G. A. Whitaker, Malden, a retired minister, was arrested today on complaint of his wife, Mrs. G. A. Whitaker of Watertown, who charges him with failure to comply with an order of the court, in which he was to pay her $7 a week. Judge Luce gave Whitaker two weks in which to pay the $80.

MURPHY AND GALLANT
SPLIT EVEN IN 12-ROUND
BOUT AT THE ATLAS CLUB

GALLANT AND MURPHY DRAW IN ATLAS BOUT

By JACK CONWAY.

GILBERT GALLANT and Eddie Murphy each has a battling average of .500 today as a result of their three ring battles. When these two rivals clashed a year ago Murphy won and had the fine mark of 1.000. [illegible] came along like a [illegible] and beat Murphy [illegible] last Summer [illegible] it was even Steven.

Chelsea's [illegible] and South Boston's best bet in the boxing game got together at the Atlas A. A. again last night and each of them was out to boost his percentage to .667, but after twelve rounds of merry battling Referee Matty Flaherty informed the assembled multitude that honors were even. Consequently we cannot credit either of the pair with a hit at bat.

We do not know how to score the play. It would be unfair to credit [illegible] Gallant or Murphy with a sacrifice hit as they both tried their level best to land the decision.

Then, too, it would be impossible to charge Flaherty with being wild and giving a couple of passes to first as the decision was a good one and met with approval with the majority of the "fans."

Consequently, after giving the European war news the once over, we have come to the conclusion that the best way out of the mixup is to put the tussle down as a tie game in the twelfth.

GALLANT did his best work in the opening rounds of the bout when his hard hand punches to the jaw and his solid body blows forced Murphy to give ground. The Chelsea boy had the best of the going for five rounds. Murphy was on the defensive the greater part of the time and was unable to score with his famous left jab.

Murphy went to the mat in the first round after Gallant landed a hard blow to the jaw. Eddie was not knocked down but slipped while trying to get out of the way of a second blow. There was considerable excitement in the fourth frame after a wild exchange of punches.

Murphy broke away from a clinch and doubled up. He claimed foul and walked over to one of the corners of the ring where he rested on the ropes. Referee Flaherty refused to allow his claim and fighting was resumed.

IF MURPHY was really hit low, it is doubtful if he could have fought the way he did in the following sessions. He started after Gallant in the seventh frame and kept fighting like the Murphy of old until the tenth session opened. He danced around the ring like a two-year-old and reminded us of the Murphy who won so many thrilling battles at the old Armory and later proved himself to be the class of the New England lightweights.

His left hand shot out with precision and accuracy of a piston rod and sent Gallant's head back. He would then evade Gallant's wild rushes. Murphy's supporters cheered wildly and they had cause to be enthusiastic. It looked as though Eddie had come back with both feet on the ground.

GALLANT halted Murphy's rally in the tenth stanza and held his own for the rest of the bout. Alex McLean's Protege did not do a great deal of forcing but boxed cleverly and made his opponent miss many well meant blows.

We almost neglected to state that friend Mr. Baldwin was introduced before the big show got underway. Matty declared that he was open to meet any boxer in the world. And he meant it, too. Gallant and Murphy both asserted today that they are ready to accommodate Charlestown's esteemed citizen.

THE preliminary card was one of the best of the season. Larry Burns of Lawrence defeated Tommy McFarland, who hails from the North End, in the semi-final "go" of eight rounds. Burns fought a grand battle and had McFarland almost out in the last session.

Johnny Fallon, the clever Roxbury boxer, and Johnny Murphy of South Boston, put up another fine tussle. Fallon had a slight shade on the Peninsular boy but the whirl was called a draw. Johnny Noonan, the Dorchester lightweight, and Joe Vargus of Cambridge, also fought a six-round draw.

Somerville Protests Forfeited Contest

Manager Hickey of the Somerville B. B. C., has sent the following letter to the Amateur Baseball Editor, in which he asks that the City League game forfeited to the Lincoln Club last Saturday, be played over. Hickey believes his team was justified in refusing to continue play under the circumstances, which he describes in this letter:

> Amateur Baseball Editor,
>
> Dear Sir:—We played the Lincolns on their grounds last Saturday. In the eighth inning our team tied the score 4 to 4. The second baseman of the Lincolns claimed a Somerville runner did not touch second. He called the umpire's attention to it. There was a man at bat and the pitcher was about to deliver the ball to the batter. The umpire said he did not see whether the runner touched second or not. The Lincolns gathered around the umpire and talked him into calling the runner out. Then our team refused to continue play. We either want the game thrown out or played over.

> Respectfully,
> JAMES J. HICKEY,

AUSTRALIANS FAVORITES IN TENNIS PLAY

By FRED HOEY

Remarkably active play by the Australians in the two past days' practice at the Longwood courts has given them the edge on the English team in the elimination series which starts at the Longwood courts tomorrow and which will be played Thursday and Friday, the winner to have the right to challenge the American team for the Davis Cup—emblematic of the tennis supremacy of the world.

The English team has been practicing at the Longwood courts for the past week. The four players—Captain Parke, Lowe, Mavrogordato and Kingscote—have not made an exceptional impression on the close experts of the game, yet in the two days' workout of the Australians, who are here fresh from their victory over the Germans, show polish and finish that is indicative of championship class.

PARKE IN FINE FORM.

The Australian representatives—Brookes and Wilding, the former thirty-nine years of age and the latter thirty-two—are seasoned players, but whether they have enough activity to stand off the young American representatives, should they qualify for the big round, is a question.

Brookes and Wilding have played very fine tennis since they have been in this country, but then, too, tennis followers are considering the great play development of Captain Parke of the English team.

Parke has always been rated as an inconsistent player. This year finds the Irish athletic star well polished in all departments of the game.

Parke has played in this country twice before and has been beaten by Larned, Clothier and Beals Wright. The feeling among the tennis followers is that Parke will beat either Brookes of Wilding in the singles.

The Australians have two extra players along with them—Doust and Dunlop.

OPENING DAY PROGRAM.

Should Lieutenant Kingscote of the English team be ordered home to join his regiment in case of war, the team would depend on Mavrogordato to fill in.

The program for tomorrow's opening will furnish two singles matches; the first to start at 2 o'clock and the next immediately following.

On Friday there will be one match in doubles between England and Australia, to be called at 3:30 p. m. The Longwood Cricket Club officials have arranged with the Boston Elevated for extra cars during the three days' play and also to provide for the parking of the automobiles during the course of the international matches.

DAVIS CUP FINALS.

Australasia vs. British Isles.

TOMORROW.

Lowe, British Isles, vs. Wilding, Australia, at 2 p. m.

Parke, British Isles, vs. Brookes, Australia, immediately following.

SATURDAY.

Lowe, British Isles, vs. Brookes, Australia, at 2 p. m.

Parke, British Isles, vs. Wilding, Australia, immediately following.

Draw for the doubles on Wednesday to be made today.

Resolute Gains Another Victory Over the Vanitie

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 5.—Over a thirty-eight-mile triangular course today, Resolute gained another victory over Vanitie by finishing two minutes and forty seconds ahead in a race for the Astor cup.

Boston Tennis Star Wins Title in N. H.

CRAWFORD HOUSE, N. H., Aug. 5.—James Nowell of Boston won the New Hampshire state tennis title from King Smith of New York and secured a second leg on the Crawford House challenge cup. The score was 6—2, 4—6, 7—5, 6—1.

RACING RESULTS.

Moretti and Mitten Win Feature Races at Revere Beach Oval

Worth Mitten won the twenty-mile motor-paced race against James Moran and Vincent Madono last night at the Revere Cycle Track in 29m. 40 1-5s.

It was Madono's first real appearance. On the fifth mile, when one of his opponents went around him, he lost his pace.

In attempting to recover it after the motor stopped Madono rode around in front of the machine.

Charles Turville, the operator, avoided hitting Madono, but in doing so had to take a fall and his collar bone was broken.

Caesar Moretti defeated Frank Cavanagh in their special sprint match—the men rode three heats, Moretti taking the first and third.

Fred Herbert and John Barry were given the special tandem one-mile race against Tom Connolly and Frank Drobach, as the latter pair rode Herbert and Barry high.

The half-mile handicap for amateurs was won by L. C. Rollins in 1m. 2 2-5s. T. Sullivan was second. Joseph J. Lang with a liberal handicap of 130 yards romped in a winner in the three-quarter-mile professional race. Alvin Loftes was second.

May Match Rice and Drew for 100 yd Race

The plans already made for the athletic events to be held in connection with the Progressive Field Day at Fenway Park on August 17, assure one of the best track meets staged in this part of Massachusetts this year.

Practically all of the local athlets have already entered and the committee in charge of this branch are endeavoring to bring about a special 100-yard dash between Charley Rice, the Maine sprinter, and Howard Drew, the colored flyer from California and Massachusetts.

In connection with the field day events plans are now being completed for a race for the fat man's championship, and the two men who are to strive for this honor are prominent men in the local political world. It is also likely that a special event will be placed on the program that will give John Lawler, the Irish-American shotputter another opportunity of breaking the record established by Ralph Rose in the eight-pound event.

Play P. A. right across the boards!

You lay an odds-on bet that Prince Albert is the best pipe and cigarette smoke any man ever put a match to. You'll cash in before you clean out your first tidy red tin.

Here's tobacco that's got real red-blooded man punch, but it can't bite your tongue and it can't parch your throat. That's thrown into the discard by a patented process owned exclusively by the manufacturers. You stick a pin here—no other tobacco can be like Prince Albert; nor has P. A. any "near" relatives! Follow the thought?

Just put it right up to yourself for a test-out. Lay a dime against a tin of Prince Albert and get tipped off from the home plate as to how close to case cards this talk is.

You get wise to that P. A. flavor and fragrance. Because it's just one of those little things in life that smooths out ruffles and wrinkles in the day's work and sends you along right cheerful like.

Prince Albert is sold everywhere. In toppy red bags, 5c (handy for rolling 'em); in tidy red tins, 10c; also in handsome pound and half-pound humidors that make a hit around home or the office.

BRAVES OUT TO MAKE
RECORD STRING OF WINS
IN GREAT FLAG BATTLE

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

RED SOX STILL HOPE TO LAND 1914 PENNANT
IN SPITE OF LATE LOSSES

RED SOX STILL CONFIDENT OF WINNING FLAG

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5.—Although his team lost the third game of the series to the Browns yesterday, 2 to 1, and the third battle in a row, Manager Carrigan is still confident that his aggregation will cop the American League pennant.

"Yes, we lost some more ground on the leading Athletics," said the manager of the Red Sox, "but we are not out of the running. We are going in there and fight harder than ever from now on. Young Shore twirled a great game and should have been the winner, but the breaks were against my boys.

"We should have put the contest in the 'W' column in the first inning, but Gardner and Janvrin were unable to come across with a safe blow.

"Had either of these two been able to connect safely with Hamilton's offerings, we would have had two runs, if not three, and that would have won for us.

"Then in the sixth inning we should have had more than one score. The breaks were against us, though. We would have counted more runs, too, if Pratt had not made a sensational stop of Scott's grounder, which was followed by one of the fastest double plays I ever saw pulled on a ball field.

OUT TO GET MACKMEN.

"My boys are in a hitting slump at present. Look at their marks. Not one of them has been hitting up to his form in the games played here. Against Weilman, Sunday, we got seven blows.

"We made the same number off James in the second battle, while yesterday we grabbed only six off Hamilton. That shows clearly that the boys are not hitting the way they should. But look out for us when they do.

"We are not so awfully far behind the Athletics. Connie Mack's team has been getting the breaks—we have not. That's the difference. But we will wait our time and then go out and get the Mackmen."

Yesterday's battle was a tough one to lose. Ernest Shore, right-hander recently secured from the Baltimore Club of the International League Club, pitched a great game and he deserved to win.

SHIFT IN SOX LINEUP.

With Hamilton, a Southpaw on duty, Manager Carrigan switched his lineup, benching Hooper and Hoblitzell, two left-handed batters, and sending Walter Rehg, the St. Louis boy, to right, Janvrin moving from second to first, while Steve Yerkes played second.

Yerkes played a sensational game at the middle cushion. He handled eight assists in great fashion and many of them were hard chances—chances that when they left the bat were labeled base hits. But Stephen handled them all flawlessly.

In an attempt to stop the losing streak of his aggregation, Carrigan will shoot Dutch Leonard, his star Southpaw, against the Browns in the final contest of the series today. Walter Leverenz, another left-hander, will oppose him.

Finns May Compete in Olympic Games

Finnish athletes may be seen at the Olympic games after all, says James E. Sullivan of the American Olympic committee. The Finns, deprived of their identity and forced to compete under Russian colors, threatened to boycott the meet. This would keep many of the world's greatest athletes out of the big games.

Russia is anxious to have the Finns compete at Berlin and will make any concessino short of allowing Finland its own team. Russia probably will make a Finn the official Russian representative at the games and so bring about peace with Kolehmainen, Nicklander and their brother athletes.

"THE PLAYERS ARE NOT DENYING that punishment should be administered to Ainsmith and Morgan for their part in Thursday's affair," says John Henry of the Washingtons. "But they do maintain that it is entirely unfair to allow Umpire Sheridan, who started the trouble by hitting Morgan, to go unpunished." Some years ago, in New York, Sheridan had a fight with Danny Green and it was the umpire on that occasion who got in the first punch.

JACK MILLER OF THE CARDINALS HAS been in a batting and fielding slump since the team came East, and as he is a very live wire when normal that makes a difference.

* * *

WHEN RAY KEATING BEAT THE Clevelands the other day he nearly doubled his average of games won. His unofficial record up to that time was one victory and ten defeats. It was a long time between victories for Ray—from May 4, on which day he beat the Washingtons, to August 1.

CLARENCE WALKER HAS TAKEN A slump in his stick work, but he still retains his membership in the 300 division, so the fans have no cause for complaint.

* * *

CAPTAIN GEORGE McBRIDE OF THE Senators, who always ranked as a poor batsman, has been doing exceptionally good work of late. His Hitting has been hard, as well as timely.

Every Circuit Must Retrench in Salaries

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 8.—President Ed G. Barrow of the International League says that the time has come for retrenchment in all the leagues.

"The sport is not on a firm foundation," he said recently, "as it costs more to operate than the public is willing to pay, and any one can see that the spotr will not last long that way.

"The International League must retrench in the matter of salaries and the big leagues must do the same. The players are getting all th money there is in the game and more too. Such a state of affairs will not long last."

Irving Wright on Losing Tennis End

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 5.—George M. Church and Dean Mathey of Princeton, winners of the Western tennis doubles championship, defeated J. B. Adoue and Irving C. Wright, Southern title holders, in three straight sets here this afternoon. The score was 6—4, 6—1 and 6—2. The winners will play McLoughlin and Bundy for the title.

BRAVES AGAIN FIGHT PIRATES AT SOUTH END

The Braves have the chance of a lifetime to get into third place today. If they down the Pirates—chances are they will—and the Cardinals lose, the Boston battlers will hold forth right back of the Cubs.

The margin will not be great. The averages will be: Braves, .516; Cards, .515. But it would help things along to have the team up there a rung nearer the tip.

The Cubs today are a small matter of three games to the good of the Braves, who are only seven and a half away from the Giants. As the leading pair mingle again this afternoon, the Walpole streeters are sure to gain, if they beat the Pirates, on some one or other of the bunch up ahead there.

Beating said Pirates is a habit nowadays with the local stars. They did it yesterday in the most approved fashion, though Bob Harmon pitched good enough ball against them to come out on top against most aggregations.

The Braves' winning string now has seven notches without a gap. It is the avowed intention of the players to go out and beat the Phillies' season mark of twelve in a row. With a little hitting they seem due to make a mighty good bid for the honor at all events.

For today's battle, either Otto Hess or Paul Strand seem the most likely pitching selections. The pair have been waiting around for a week for a chance to pitch. Manager Stallings, however, may decide to chase out Bill James once more, though the big fellow hasdone his share of work in the last few days. The boss is a firm believer in playing out his string when the breaks are coming and the regular working of the three winning twirlers has been mighty fine medicine recently.

For the Pirates, McQuillan or Adams will likely work. Neither one of the pair has lost with any more regularity lately than the other Pirate stars, so-called, and these days Fred Clarke must be picking the most graceful losers.

Wolgast Seeking Labor Day Battle

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 8.—Ad Wolgast is again talking fight, and if he can land a Labor Day match here he will be glad to give up his proposed trip to Europe with Tom Jones.

Wolgast is confident that his bad arms will be strong enough for him to get busy again in a few weeks, and if he can grab Labor Day he will remain here until it is time to start work.

Coast Tennis Stars to Meet in Finals

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—R. Lindley Murray and Maurice E. McLoughlin from California went into the final round of the New York State tennis championship on the courts of the Crescent Athletic Club. Murray beat F. B. Alexander, 8—6, 8—6, 8—10, 8—6. McLoughlin outplayed Frederick C. Inman, 6—1, 6—4, 6—3.

OVER THE PLATE

By NICK FLATLEY

THE Braves will perform again Saturday at Fenway Park. Owner Gaffney announced the fact yesterday. President Lannin of the Red Sox very kindly offered the use of his spacious grounds to the Braves management for the remainder of the season. The National heads decided that the week-day crowds, for the present at least, could be accommodated at Walpole street. The weekly half-holiday is something else again, however. And as a matter of fact, if the Braves keep it up, it'll be a very short time before the South End Park will be unable to hold the throngs that will go out every day to watch a Boston team win.

* * *

WINNING sure has grown to be a habit with the Braves. When the pitchers slump a bit the team bangs out enough hits to bring home the bacon. When the batting falls off the hurlers nobly come to the rescue and keep the hostiles away from the plate. Such a combination is mighty hard to beat. And the more we have of it the better we'll like it.

* * *

UP to the present the Braves have won twenty-one of their last twenty-six frays. Which, no matter how you look at it, is some record. The only team that has any list of deeds at all comparable with that of the Boston stars is the Athletics, who have gathered in twenty-three in the last twenty-nine games they have played. But the Macks have not had to clash with either the Senators or Red Sox, who have been holding second and third places in the Johnson circuit. The Braves, on the contrary, have gone through two series each with the Cubs and Cardinals, both higher in the standing than themselves.

* * *

ADVICES from New York have it that Jawn McGraw, manager of the champion Giants, is beginning to worry about the Braves. One Bostonian who met the Gotham leader several times during the Red series, claims that every time Muggsy hears a report from Boston, he tears out more or less hair. The eminent correspondent who directs affairs in New York is quoted as saying, with much feeling, no later than Monday: "When a team can win every day without hitting, how are you going to stop it?" Miller Huggins, Hank O'Day and Fred Clarke have exactly the same sentiments.

* * *

HIS shutout performance yesterday gave Dick Rudolph a string of eight wins in a row. If this small but efficient gentleman keeps at it, he will soon be at the head of the National League pitchers. Best thing about him is that the further he goes the better he looks. A pair of two-hit games within five days is some stunt. Dick blanked the Cards last Friday, with a brace of whacks, and repeated yesterday. One of the Pirate blows was a very scratchy sort of wallop at that.

* * *

DEVORE made a dive for Wagner's low fly and to all appearances corralled it. Umpire Rigler waved the Old Ruin out. Honus himself started back toward the bench. But when Josh began to pick himself up and at the same time fish around for the ball, it was apparent that he had failed to make the catch. Had he been a bit graceful recovering the ball the chances are he would have been credited with a putout.

McGraw Suspended for Umpire Baiting

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants was suspended for three days because of his argument with Empire Byron yesterday.

Braves May Play at Fenway Saturday

President James E. Gaffney of the Braves has partially accepted the offer of President Lannin of the Red Sox to use Fenway Park, free of charge, for the remaining home games of the local National League team. Gaffney today wired Lannin that he would be glad to avail himself of the use of Fenway Park for Saturdays and for Labor Day if his team keeps up in the flag race. The telegram follows:

> Joseph J. Lannin, Boston American Baseball Club, St. Louis, Mo.:
>
> Please accept my thanks for your most generous offer. It was the thought of a true sportsman and is appreciated by not only myself, but by the public of New England. Braves look like contenders, so may take advantage of your offer on Saturdays and holiday. Permit me to congratulate you upon the fine progress the Red Sox have made under your ownership. Boston needs two pennants. Let us go after them.

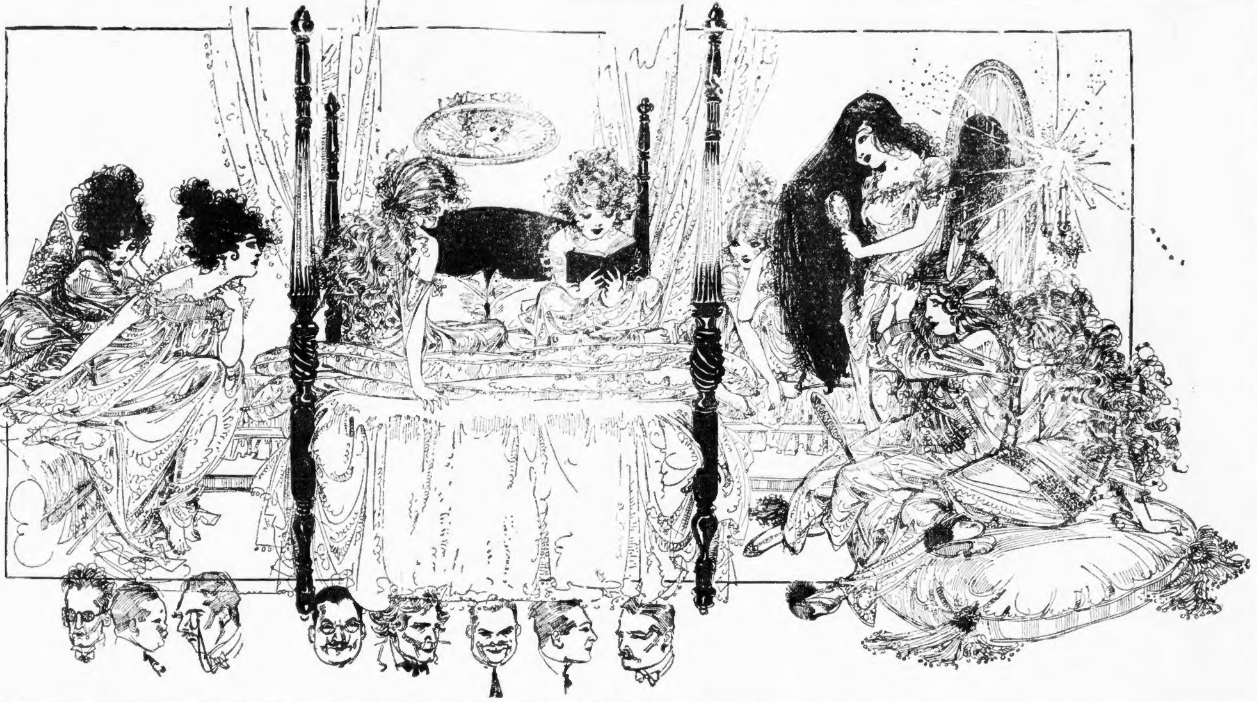
"We Idolize Launcelots at Sweet Sixteen, but We MARRY Jims and Johns"

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service



"GIRLS, listen! (curled up for bed with the best of the six best sellers) girls, listen—isn't he wonderful? 'Our hero is a tall, lithe fellow with mighty, yet graceful shoulders, a tender, yet eagle eye, a profile wherein is blent strength and beauty, a perfect specimen of manhood, heavy of hair, brown with the wind, daring and merry, with yet a shadow of melancholy veiling his handsome eyes.'"

And the pretty eight sigh and lean and listen and build a castle wherein is a Prince of no other kind but this.

This is sixteen * * * but at twenty-five, when Danny old-boy passes them by on the road and makes them jump through the golden ring—it isn't Launcelot—it's just plain Jim and John—sometimes awf'lly plain—so "plain" that some folks whisper, "What could she ever see in HIM!"—NELL BRINKLEY.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WEN Pa caim hoam last nite he was all ex-cited. Wife, he sed, I saw a trick performed today wich I beleeve is nothing moar nor less than the discovery of a new law of Nature.

It must have took a long time to do the trick, sed Ma, it is neerly 8 o'clock & the dinner is all coald.

Doant mind that, deerest, sed Pa, I wanted sumthing coald tonite, anyway. What is a coald dinner & a littel delay in gitting hoam compared with discovering a law of Nature that nobody ever knew.

I am sure I doant know, sed Ma. It seems as if men mite be better occu-pied keeping the laws of Nature that they alreddy know than digging up new laws of Nature to brake. What is this wunderful idee, & who showed it to you?

Billy Keener showed it to me, sed Pa. I jest dropped into Billy's plaice for a moment on the way hoam & he showed me the trick. Bobbie, Pa sed, git a small drinking glass & fill it full rite up to the brim with water. Fill it as full as it will hold, sed Pa.

So I got a glass & put it on the tabel & filled it chuck full of water, so if I put in another drop it wud have runned oaver.

Now, sed Pa, I want you & Bobbie to watch closely. I ave here a hand full of quarters, 24 of them, Pa sed. Six dollars in quarters. I am going to drop these quarters into the glass, edge-ways, sed Pa, one at a time, & thare will not be a single drop of water spill onto the tabel.

What of it? sed Ma.

Doant you see, sed Pa, these quarters will taik up quite a littel space in the bottom of the glass. What beecums of the water they dis-place? You will notis, sed Pa, if you watch sharp, that the water, insted of spilling, curves upward above the level of the glass, but it dosent spill. Marvelus, I call it, sed Pa.

Then Pa dropped the quarters into the glass, one at a time, & sure enuff he put them all in. The water dident spill, eether. It caim up in a kind of curve, but it dident spill.

That isent any new dis-covery, sed Ma. We used to have that experiment in skool. It illus-trates wat is known as cap-illary attrackshun, if I remember rite, Ma sed. It is on the saim principle, she sed, of a needel floating on the surface of water. The needel sinks a little tiny bit into the water, but owing to cap-illary attrackshun, it will not sink. I guess you & Billy Keener cud be putting in yure time to better ad-vantage, sed Ma, & you mite tell him so tomorrow.

Then this is a old trick, sed Pa.

As old as I can remember, sed Ma, & I guess it was old befoar you were born. Now eat yure supper & be hoam earlier tomorrow nite, & Ma took the glass & threw out the water into the sink, but she kept the 24 quarters.

How about my six $ in quarters, sed Pa.

I will keep them for a suvenir of capillary attrackshun, sed Ma. In other words, she toald Pa, the quarters were attrack'ted to me & now they are mine.

Pa laffed a littel, but not vary harty.

Stung Again!

"Johnny, I want you to go on a little errand for me."

"Oh, mother, must I really? My legs ache." His mother patted the boy's head.

"In that case, of course, you needn't go; but I thought perhaps you'd like to. You see, I wanted you to go to Mrs. Stickney's candy shop and"——

Little Johnny brightened wonderfully.

"Oh, I think I can walk as far as that!" he said.

"Then you will go?"

"Certainly, mother!"

"And you know where Mrs. Stickney's shop is?"

"Yes, mother."

"Well, I have a parcel upstairs which I want you to hand in at the postoffice next door. I'm afraid it is rather a big parcel, but you don't mind carrying it, do you, Johnny?"

Efficient

"Helen," asked her mother, "who loves you best, Jack or Harry?"

"Well, they're both awfully good at it, mother."

Little Mary's Essays

By DOROTHY DIX

THE truth is something nasty, like quinine, that people hand out to us and make us take against our will. It tastes bitter and makes you awful sick at the time, but it acts fine on the constitution.

Nobody likes to hear the truth about themselves, but it's a great pleasure to tell the truth to people that you don't like, anyway.

When you tell the truth you always say something perfectly horrid to a person, but when you lie you speak to them polite and agreeable. I do not know why this is so, but it is so.

When my mama says to my aunt Harriet, who is my papa's sister, that she feels that it is her duty to tell her the truth, she always makes Aunt Harriett hopping mad, because she tells Aunt Harriett that everybody knows that she dyes her hair, and has false teeth, and that she will never see forty-five again, instead of being thirty-two, as Aunt Harriett says she is.

And when Aunt Harriett tells mama the truth, she says everybody pities poor papa because he is so henpecked, and that my mama's grandpapa kept a delicatessen store, instead of being a retired merchant and most aristocratic, as my mama tells he was.

Little children should always speak the truth, but grown-ups dassen't do it, because they would not get invited out to any more parties if they did. My mother knew a woman once who always told the truth, and everybody was so afraid of her that when they saw her coming they would run and hide, and she 'most died because she was so lonesome for somebody to talk to.

It is noble to always tell the truth, but you won't have any friends if you do.

My mother says I must grow up to be a perfectly truthful lady, and I say that if I grow up to be a perfectly truthful lady, will I be popular in society, and will people always ask me to their parties, and will I have lots of beaux if I always tell the gentlemen just what I think about them? And my mother says run away, little girl, and play.

It is lovely and grand to tell the truth, but when my mother asks me who has been in the jam, and I tell her the truth and say that I have, I get punished for it; but if I tell her it was the cat, she lets me stay up for supper.

If you tell the truth you will go to heaven when you die, but you won't have much fun in this world.

Up-to-the-Minute Jokes

A young man happened to be present at a party. One of the company offered him a glass of whiskey. He declined it with thanks, saying that he was a teetotaller. Unfortunately for himself, he had a very red nose, not at all like that of one who abstained from intoxicating liquor.

Immediately on his refusal of the drink, an old Scotsman, who was a bit of a wag, stood up and said:

"Weel, man, ye micht tak' doon yer sign, and let folk ken that ye're teetotal."

A well-known actor-manager observed recently that an actor should be modest, and that most actors were. He went on to say that he once knew of a young player who, at the beginning of his career, carried modesty almost too far. This young aspirant inserted in all the dramatic papers a want advertise- that read:

"Engagement wanted: Small part, such as dead body or shouts outside, preferred."

Lipper—How are you, Chipper? Haven't seen you for some time. How are the family getting on?

Chipper—They're all going to the dogs, old man.

Lipper—You don't say so! Why, what's happened? They were all right when I saw you last.

Chipper—Yes, but you see there's a kennel show in town this afternoon.

His Wife—I met our maid Anna just now on the street, and she pretended not to see me.

Her Husband—You ought to point out to Anna the impropriety of such conduct.

His Wife—But how can I? You see, she had another girl with her, and it was quite evident she didn't want her friend to know she was working for a woman who wore a hat that she had herself retrimmed.

The master plumber had become rich and was going abroad for his health. On the voyage a school of whales were sighted, and the plumber was seen to rub his hands in ecstasies.

"Why is he so happy?" asked a curious passenger.

"He can't help it," whispered the captain. "He imagines each spout is a burst waterpipe to be repaired by him at his old rates."

He: "I wonder what the meaning of that picture is? The youth and the maiden are in tender attitude."

She: "Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him. How sweet. What does the artist call the picture?"

He (looking about): "Oh, I see. It's written on the card at the bottom, 'Sold.'"

RALPH INDUCES EDITH TO BREAK WITH TOM AND BECOME ENGAGED TO HIM

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER.

CHAPTER XVIII.

WHEN the significance of Ralph Morton's unexpected proposition broke upon Edith Hale's mind, all the color left her face.

"What do you mean?" she gasped.

He glanced apprehensively toward the staircase, but the girls had paused in the upper hall to wait for one of their group. He heard one of them call out, "Come on, Emily! We're waiting for you," and the reply, "I'm coming in a minute—just as I can arrange this pesky scarf over my head."

Ralph spoke hurriedly: "I mean that I love you, Edith. You know I do. You may not think you love me, but I will be willing to wait until you do. I cannot expect that you care for me yet as much as you have cared for Tom."

He had chosen his words cleverly, and the girl threw back her head with a disdainful gesture. "I never want to hear his name again! I never loved him, although I was so foolish as to think I did. Now I hate him!"

"You don't hate me, dear, Ralph reminded her. "Give me a trial, Edith. I don't ask you to love me now. You may banish me later if you like. But, dearest, I love you so much that I want to put myself at your service. If people are gossiping about your engagement to Tom, say you are engaged to me."

"But I'm not!" she whispered tremulously.

"You are if you say you are," he urged. "You can break your engagement as soon as you want to, and have it known that you broke it. But, dear, use me as a shield now."

She caught her breath sharp. "As Tom did!" she sneered.

"Edith!" the man exclaimed. "Do not put yourself in such a category! No, not as Tom did, but as you, the woman I love, have a right to do—to honor me by shielding yourself from gossip by using my name."

"How good you are!" she said.

The girls were coming to the head of the stairs. He held her hands in his for a moment. "Will you be engaged to me, darling?" he asked eagerly.

His face was white, his eyes burning. Her own eyes fell before his gaze. "Yes," she whispered.

He raised her hands to his lips. Nor did he hurry the action. All need of haste was past now. He did not care if he and Edith were seen in their present attitude. "Darling," he murmured.

"CONGRATULATIONS"

Beatrice Craig, leading the bevy of girls coming down from the dressing-room, stopped short on the stairs.

"Oh!" she exclaimed with a giggle, "I fear we intrude!"

Edith snatched her hands from Ralph's grasp, a flood of crimson color flowing over her face and neck. Beatrice ran swiftly down the stairs and threw her arms about the blushing girl, laughing loudly as she did so.

"Oh!" she gushed. "You need not look so ashamed—even if you have surprised us all! I thought all the time that it was Tom! Now I understand why he was not here tonight."

"Hush!" Edith begged, glancing nervously at the others who had heard only a part of Beatrice's speech.

Beatrice lowered her voice, but repeated her remark: "I thought it was Tom—and so did everybody else!"

"Well, you see," said Edith gravely, "everybody was mistaken."

The gossip held out her hand to Ralph. "My warmest congratulations!" she giggled.

"Please, Beatrice," Edith pleaded, "don't talk about it now!"

"What's all this secrecy about?" the other girls demanded, teasingly, gathering about Edith and Ralph.

"About nothing!" Edith declared, pulling away from them and running to the front door. Here she paused and looked back, her face suddenly serious. "If you girls are my friends," she said in tense tones, "you won't ask me any more questions."

"All right!" Beatrice agreed, while those who had not fully comprehended the situation looked puzzled. Before further comment could be made Edith had stepped out upon the veranda, calling gayly:

"Where are you ungallant men when your ladies are waiting here for you to escort them home?"

"We're all coming in now," Mr. Hale answered cheerily from the end of the veranda. "We've just been gazing at the old moon up there."

He was standing near his daughter when Beatrice Craig bade her good-night. "It's been a lovely affair, Edith," she said, "and I do hope you are always going to be as happy as you are tonight."

"Thank you!" Edith rejoined faintly.

ENGAGED TO RALPH

"And, as for you," Beatrice said, turning to Ralph, "you are a mighty lucky man!"

John Hale started violently. He stepped forward as if to speak, then checked himself. Edith, noting this, acted quickly. It would not do for Ralph to be here when her father asked her the question that she knew would be sure to come.

"Ralph," she suggested, "I wish you would take Beatrice home. I don't like her to go alone."

"But," protested Emily Bruce, one of the guests, "as Beatrice is spending the night with me I am going to take her in my motor."

"Nevertheless, Miss Bruce," Ralph interposed, "there is no reason why I should not ride with you two young ladies to your destination."

The last guest had gone and Edith turned to Constance as she entered the house. "Connie," she said, "I'm going to bed. I'm fearfully tired."

"Yes, dearie, do go to bed," Mrs. Hale urged.

John Hale looked into his daughter's eyes as she returned his good-night kiss. "Child," he asked, "what did Miss Craig mean by her speech to you just now? Does she know that you are engaged to Tom?"

The girl flung out her arms with a gesture of passionate weariness.

"No!" she exclaimed. "Because I am NOT engaged to Tom—and—you may as well know it now—I am engaged to Ralph Morton!"

To Be Continued.

A Faint Chance

Bill was looking for work. He had tramped round all day inquiring at the different places where there was any probability of a casual laborer finding a job, but had not struck any luck.

At last he came to the great gates of the factory owned and run by Messrs. O'Connor & Murphy. Seeing the foreman standing looking down the street, he went up and asked him if he could put a job his way.

"We're full to burstin' wid men now," said he. "But if yez came along tomorrow bright and early, it's meself that might be givin' of a job to yez."

"Right-oh!" answered Bill. "I'll be round all right!" Then a shade of suspicion crossed his brow. "You're not pulling my leg, are you? There really is a chance of a job?"

"Bless the man, ain't I telling yez! It's like this here. We've got a man wid us now who isn't here, and, begorra, if he isn't here tomorrow I'll be after tellin' him he needn't stop, and it's yourself can have the job."

A Round at Golf

"Well, I'll tell you what I once did in a day," said little Bulke, with his back to the golf clubhouse fire.

"I had an appointment with a man for 8 o'clock in the morning. He turned up and we started at once.

"We played solidly until 1 o'clock, then had lunch. Commenced again at a quarter to 2 and played on until 5.

"We had tea, and were off again at 6, playing until half-past 8. That was twelve hours' hard golf."

There was silence for a minute while Bulke regained his breath. Then a voice from the depths of an armchair spoke.

"And did you finish the round by that time?"

His One Wish

Brown is a melancholy soul. Rumor hath it that once he was crossed in love. At any rate, he is usually pessimistic about things in general and always particular as to what he eats.

The other day he went into a restaurant, and, having scanned the luncheon menu, said to the waiter:

"I see you have some calf's heart?"

"Yes, sir—yes, sir," agreed the waiter, busily flicking crumbs from the tablecloth.

"Well, how about it?" continued Brown. "Is it tender?"

"Yes, sir," declared the waiter. "Beautifully tender."

"Then, bring me some," he said. "If there is in the world such a thing as a tender heart I want it."

Slaves to Freak Fashions

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

THE girl who does not slavishly follow the fashions of today seems like one white sheep in a flock of black ones!

Never have fashions in clothes been more extreme than now. Never has there been greater need for common sense and judgment in choosing one's garments. And never have women more slavishly aped one another in the desire to be smart.

There is no more contagious disease than a fashion. New styles are introduced by dressmaker's manikins or women of the demi-monde as a general rule. The rest of the feminine world sees, and first laughs in scorn at the novelty and then follows a series of feelings—"they first endure, then pity and then embrace." And then the wild contagion of the style spreads from woman to woman.

There is a great lack of independence and of personal influence in dressing. Like a true flock of sheep women follow the standard set up by a new fashion. And since most styles are neither modest nor graceful in line, the flock becomes a freak flock of black sheep.

Are there no girls who dare be white sheep in a black flock? Are there no girls who dare refuse to wear unbecoming clothes and to exert their personality on the styles instead of weakly allowing the styles to rule their personalities?

A real poet once gave his attention to the panorama of fashion and put the proper way to meet it simply and well. Said he: "Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to cast the old aside."

That is indeed an excellent attitude to take toward the new styles, but it must be aided by judgment as to what of the new to adopt.

Tall women, short women, thin women and plump have all joined the cult of the tunic. How can it be that every woman, regardless of length, breadth or thickness, will look equally well in an overskirt that flares out somewhere between knees and ankles above an underskirt that is tight enough about the feet to suggest the pantalettes of a bygone day? Can this one style soften an angular figure, give height to a dumpy one, and add the softly boyish lines so much in favor to a fat woman?

Not every woman looks well with her hair over her ears in a series of scallops across her cheeks. Very few women are at all attractive with their locks pasted up away from their ears. But all the world once adopted the one extreme and all the world of femininity seems about to cultivate the equally startling other fashion of arranging its hair.

Extremes of fashion do fairly well for the woman of such ample means that she can discard one freak for another before it loses its one charm—its bizarre newness. But for the girlie who must go on wearing a pair of white-topped boots after the world has tired of boots and decided on French heeled pumps for walking (?), those boots are so injudicious an extravagance as to be almost a crime.

Don't, I beg of you, my dear girls, adopt the wildest freaks of fashion in the hope that you will thereby look smart and attractive. Instead, you will look like a little freak yourself, and every bit of your own youthfully charming personality will be buried under the weight of your inappropriate clothes.

Pick and cull and choose from the styles. Select what you can wear to advantage, what is not immodest nor startling. Don't have your clothes the one emphatic note in your personality. Don't let your garments be the means of attracting attention to you—and snickers and unfavorable comments therewith. Cultivate your personality and show it in your garments. Be the white sheep in the flock of devotees to freak fashions. Be individual, and so you will be chic and smart enough to attract attention to your clothes.

NO CHANGE IN STOCKS SITUATION

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

All stock exchanges are still closed. There is nothing in the situation which warrants a prediction as to the time of reopening.

The Boston sub-treasury received today $[illegible]120,000 more currency, issued under the Aldrich-Vreeland act, which will be distributed among local banks. This makes $19,290,000 received in two days.

Paul M. Warburg and Frederick A. Delano were today favorably reported to the United States Senate for confirmation as members of the Federal Reserve Board.

Leading New York bankers, including J. P. Morgan, meet today to perfect a gold shipment to Europe on the [illegible] for the relief of A[illegible]. Banks in Bost[illegible] in the ship[illegible].

Stocks [illegible] from Europe on the steamship Olympic will not be delivered except in instances where brokers who bought them are willing to accept delivery and pay for the same. Otherwise the stock will be deposited in trust.

The war has resulted in Boston in advances today of about 10 per cent. in the price of all imported foodstuffs. Mills in this country have advanced the price of flour 15 cents a barrel. Retailers are asking 25 cents a barrel more today. This is the thir[illegible] advance within a week. Flour is $1 a barrel higher than it was two weeks ago.

Wheat, corn and oats sold lower in the Chicago market this morning. In London prices for American can meats have advanced from 10 to 20 per cent.

CURRENCY CRISIS OVER.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo says the currency crisis is over, and that the situation is excellent throughout the country. A billion dollars additional supply is available now, and already $100,000,000 has been shipped to sub-treasuries in Boston, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati and San Francisco. All that is needed in any centre can be obtained, and there will be plenty of cash in all sections to move crops and meet business requirements.

Bankers say that there is no need for Americans to hoard cash, as Europeans have done. Foreigners take such steps to protect coin in war times because their banks are in threatened territory and at the mercy of an invader. The custom has never prevailed in England to any extent because it has a few miles of water separating it from the Continent. That strip of sea is its best bulwark. It is easy to appreciate how safe are Americans with thousands of miles of oceans between either coast and possible enemies.

Bo[illegible] to provide for circulating all the money needed to take care of our own business, while Europe is having its trade destroyed and its industries stopped. More cheerfulness pervaded financial and business circles throughout the United States today. It looks as if in the end this country is going to not only feed Europe but manufacture for it for a long time. Domestic trade will speedily adjust to every new condition. "Peace and Prosperity" is the American motto.

VAST SUM OF GOLD HERE.

Gold is the [illegible] of the currency of the United States as well as that of European countries. The yellow metal resources of this country are the envy of the world. There is more than $1,1[illegible] here after sending around [illegible] abroad within seven months. There is little chance of much more being exported while the present [illegible] over Europe.

The foreign exchange market is badly demoralized and there seems to be no [illegible] way of straightening [illegible] England has gone to war there is little probability of an international clearing house being established, as was proposed. It is said that United States Treasury officials were considering what could be done in that line before Great Britain joined the belligerents. But with foreign [illegible] there may be delay before food or goods can be shipped abroad, even if vessels are found. American exporters, as things stand, will not let shipments leave our ports until foreign consignees make payment abroad to agents of the shippers. Merchants in this country have decided not to issue foreign bills of lading from interior places to foreign ports. Foreign exchange rates now are nominal only, as they are prohibitive.

FINANCING THE WAR.

All European governments have been for years filling war chests, Germany and France in particular having been accumulating gold. It was when the situation grew acute abroad that the heaviest drafts were made upon this country. Shipments to Europe from New York last week totalled $42,222,000, and of this amount $10,000,000 was brought back to Bar Harbor by the Kronprinzessin Cecilie. There is now afloat $15,550,000 on the Carmania, $11,022,000 on the St. Louis and $5,150,000 on the Oceanic. The Carmania was due at Southampton yesterday, the Oceanic on Friday and the St. Louis on Saturday next. They may be racing back to this coast for safety, as the Cecilie did.

But no European government has enough gold on hand to finance such a war as has begun, if it lasts long. Steps to provide funds include the appropriation of $525,000,000 by the British Parliament, and a vote by the one in France to increase its note issue from $1,240,000,000 to $2,400,000,000. Emperor William has asked the Reichstag to appropriate $1,250,000,000. International bankers have shown no disposition to aid in financing the conflict, but from time immemorial governments have raised war money by taxaton. They will resort to the ancent method. The people of Europe run the rsk of death, but, as usual, taxation is certain.

BREAD FAMINE FEARED.

It is believed that unless the Atlantic can be opened for commerce people in the United Kingdom will soon be suffering from a bread famine. It is reported that the stock of breadstuffs in London and Liverpool is unusually small. Word has reached Chicago that in Liverpool there are at present only 87,000 barrels of flour and 2,136,000 bushels of wheat. There are but 37,[illegible],000 bushels afloat for both British and Continental ports. A war spread all over Europe is liable to destroy some portion of this year's crop. On the Continent there is more food raised for local consumption than in Britain, and France is not much of an importer. But Germany is largely, and the United Kingdom almost wholly, dependent upon a foreign supply. The British Isles import about 250,000,000 and Germany about 90,000,000 bushels a year in wheat and flour.

It is feared that if Congress passes the law pending, which will enable foreign ships to be transferred to our flag, that belligerents may not agree to it. It is urged that this country might be drawn into the conflict by having vessels bearing its flag seized as prizes. "All European nations," it is stated, "recognize the declaration of London, which states that any transfer of a ship less than sixty days before war will not be considered bona fide."

COPPER PRICES RISE.

It is cabled that dealers in copper metal in London are now asking 15.30 cents a pound for electrolytic. There is no market for the metal there, so that does not account for the advance. Big copper producers in this country and Canada are going to curtail production from 25 to 50 per cent because of the war. They do not propose to overstock the market far beyond demand. The proposed curtailment will probably reduce production about 24,000,000 pounds a month. Copper producers have also decided to suspend indefinitely the publication of monthly statistics. The war is having a serious effect upon copper mining. This country sells Europe metal to the amount of more than $100,000,000 a year. In 1912 such exports totalled $147,000,000 and in 1913 they were valued at $123,000,000.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The steel industry has improved so much that leading manufacturers will probably advance the prices of all finished products $1 a ton within ten days.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's preliminary estimate as to June net operating revenues of the principal steam roads of the United States is $25,656,920.

Total operating revenues were $102,897,012, and total operating expenses $74,235,092. For the last fiscal year the net operating revenues amounted to $337,972,980, operating revenues to $1,266,307,511, and operating expenses to $928,834,331.

During the last fiscal year, and including the first nine months of the prevailing tariff, the imports of the United States totalled $1,893,925,657, or $80,517,423 more than the previous year. Foodstuffs accounted for $69,001,000 of the increase in imports. Total exports decreased $98,522,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The Senate Comittee on Banking and Currency today reported favorably the nominations of Paul M. Warburg and Frederick L. Delano to serve on the Federal Reserve Board.

MISS MARY KEDDY, Elevated girl ticket seller, from whom thief stole $36 in dimes.

STOLEN—August 2, at Rowe's Wharf Elevated Station, $36 in dimes. No questions asked if returned to T 326, Boston American.

The above advertisement was placed in the AMERICAN by Miss Mary Keddy, No. 14 Evelyn place, Malden, a pretty ticket seller at the Rowe's Wharf station of the Boston Elevated Railway. On Sunday night during the rush time Miss Keddy left her booth unguarded for a moment.

When she returned a bag containing $36 in dimes was gone. Spectators saw the man grab the bag and started to chase him, but he got away.

Doctor Speaks Out

to Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in an address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

> "These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kidneyed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis.
>
> "Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove in one's own case whether coffee is the cause of frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headache, heart disturbance and other ills.

Quit coffee 10 days, and in its place use

POSTUM

—then note the difference.

Made from prime wheat and a bit of molasses, Postum is a pure food-drink, entirely free from the pernicious drugs in tea and coffee, or any other harmful substance.

In thousands of homes Postum supplies a table beverage, pleasant to the taste, and to be used freely as a rebuilder, where coffee and tea tear down.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum, must be boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum, a soluble form, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry

GOLD FILLED WATCH CHAINS 48 CENTS Guaranteed 10 Years.

We now have on sale Gentlemen's gold filled Waldemar Watch Chains (the very latest style), worn across the vest from pocket to pocket, at 48 cents each. Every link is hard soldered and cannot break. Safety watch swivel at one end and spring ring for pencil or knife at the other. Made just as well and guaranteed in every respect to look like solid gold watch chains for 10 years. None but an expert can tell the difference. Every one will be sold with the distinct understanding that the money will be promptly refunded if a chain equal to this in style, finish and quality can be purchased elsewhere for less than three times this amount. Ask any Jeweler his price for a guaranteed 10-year gold filled chain; you will then realize what this offer means to you. Ladies' neck chains at the same price. Mail orders filled 2 cents extra. Solid 14K gold from $7.25 to $25.00. Send stamps or money order. Highest price for old gold and silver.

Alarming Death Rate From

CANCER

73,000 die yearly, of this number about 30,000 die from cancer of stomach and liver; 12,000 of the uterus; 10,000 of the intestines and 8,000 of the breast. Between 1890 and 1910 the cancer rate in Massachusetts rose from 42 to 85.

If you have a lump or sore in the breast, face, lip or on any part of the body, come here at once, or send for symptom blank and 76-page booklet. We never use the knife; our treatment is by absorption, and that it is successful is proven by hundreds of cured patients.

"America Stands Ready with Calmness of Thought and Steadiness of Purpose to Help the Rest of the World"

In his address to the newspaper correspondents on Monday, President Wilson urged them to help keep the feet of the American people upon the ground all the time during the terrible events which seem about to transpire in the alleged civilized Europe. The President's utterance was STATESMANLIKE and TIMELY. The American people can believe what he says, and ought to take his advice, in this situation.

Said President Wilson:

> I want to have the pride of feeling that America, if nobody else, has her self-possession and stands ready with calmness of thought and steadiness of purpose to help the rest of the world. And we can do it, and reap a great permanent glory out of doing it, provided we all co-operate to see that nobody loses his head.
>
> I know from my conferences with the Secretary of the Treasury, who is in very close touch with the financial situation throughout the country, that there is NO CAUSE FOR ALARM. There is cause for getting BUSY and doing the thing in the RIGHT WAY, but there is no element of unsoundness and there is no cause for alarm. The bankers and business men of the country are co-operating with the government with a zeal, intelligence and spirit which make the OUTCOME SECURE.

Let us all keep it constantly in mind that this impending disaster is one in which America has no direct concern and no direct interest whatever, save that, as members of that branch of the human race which has called itself civilized, we regret to think that so absurd a cause could occasion such a dreadful disaster.

We should not forget, when our sympathy for one side or the other begins to run high, that we are a composite nation, in which is mixed the blood of all the prospective combatants, and that in the course of our history as a nation we have received help from all of these now belligerent and unhappy peoples.

No American schoolboy is ignorant of the debt we owe to France. When we rejoice in our independent national existence, we never should forget a grateful acknowledgment to the service of the French people during our Revolutionary War. Nor should we forget the German immigrants, who, in the West, helped us to preserve our Union. We also must not forget that during the Civil War, when jealous monarchies were seriously considering a recognition of the rebellious States, in the hope that the rising power of the Republic might be checked by a division of our country, Russia remained loyal to the cause of united America.

This is a struggle in which we cannot take sides, but we CAN all unite in the fervent prayer that it will overthrow the monarchies which are responsible for this frightful situation.

In the meantime we have nothing serious to apprehend. We have no ghoulish desire to benefit by the prostration of other peoples, but there is no reason to fear that we shall suffer any material loss from the impending cataclysm.

So let us be calm and study the coming events which have cast their dark shadows before them, that we may learn such useful lessons as a terrible experience may teach.

Most of the "War News" Comes from England

Let German, Austrian and Other Citizens Remember That and Be Not Discouraged

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

Those interested in the war because of German or Austrian descent must not be too much discouraged by the "war news" widely published, and to be published, if it seems against their hopes.

Those whose interest is based on relationship with France or England or Russia must not be too much or unduly elated by good news in the "war bulletins."

Let readers remember that this newspaper, and others that are managed conscientiously, are giving as quickly as possible every dispatch, every rumor, every "piece of news," giving the origin of the news and rumors, but vouching only for official statements.

Remember also that American newspapers get their news very largely FROM ENGLISH SOURCES. This is especially true now, since in Germany, France, Italy and Russia the censorship makes it almost impossible to send out dispatches.

The great majority of the correspondents of American newspapers—the most important correspondents, at least—are located in England.

The "war news" that comes here is largely filtered through English press associations, English war correspondents, and naturally the color that is given voluntarily or otherwise is in favor of England, France and Russia and against Germany and Austria.

This must be remembered by those who would intelligently construe the war bulletins and give to each as nearly as possible its fair value.

The Hearst newspapers have made arrangements with the London Times and the London Telegraph, two of the most conservative journals in the world, and also with the Paris Matin and with leading German, Russian and Italian papers, so that news of all sides will be given with the utmost accuracy and reliability.

Expert Shows Scope of Law of Blockade

By EUGENE P. CARVER.

Vice-President of the International Law Association, authority on international, admiralty and marine law, manager of the American Record, correspondent of English Lloyds, director in insurance companies and member of the law firm of Carver, Wardner, Cavanaugh & Walker of Boston and New York.

This and other articles that will follow are written especially for the Boston AMERICAN.

EVERY hour brings a new development in the international situation, and the rights of both neutrals and belligerents at any moment may be changed by different proclamations or decrees.

The student of history is familiar with the decrees of Napoleon and of the other continental nations during the Napoleonic wars which existed a century ago. The embargo of Jefferson, which was such a cruel blow to American commerce, is something about which many persons still alive have heard from the lips of their parents.

As we near the centennial of the Treaty of Ghent, which proclaimed peace during the last war between the United States and England, the feelings and thoughts of all British-American people are directed to those times, and it seems almost as though history were repeating itself.

The word "blockade" has its origin in military rather than naval warfare and was first applied as a means to hasten the surrender of a defended place, in the Seventeenth Century, when Spain was at war with the United Provinces, who were struggling for their freedom, and since that time, it has been commonly applied to naval warfare, and by learned civilians it has been treated as an inevitable concession to the exigencies of warfare.

It gives the belligerents' interdict upon all intercourse of commerce by sea with a particular port or a particular region of the enemy's coast, whether the port or region is defended or defenceless. A blockade may be established, first, by a naval commander on his own initiative, or acting under orders from his commander-in-chief, and when it is called a blockade de facto; or second, it may be, and this is more common in modern times, a blockade by publication or proclamation of the sovereign or the commander-in-chief of forces by land and sea.

The latest example of a blockade de facto is that of the blockade at Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the notable instance of a blockade by proclamation is that of the southern Atlantic coast of the Confederacy, under the proclamation of President Lincoln in 1861.

We have before us, in considering the subject, therefore, two notable examples of the attitude that has been taken by our own government, and from the blockade of the Southern Confederacy we have more examples and precedents relating to the law of blockade than in all other instances of a like charactr combined.

A mere proclamation without the necessary naval force to carry it out would be merely a paper blockade, and as such would not, of course, be effective in "an actual" or a "legal sense," and unless the blockade is enforced, it can be of no effect. In the language of the Treaty of Paris of 1856 it must be effective, which means that the access from the sea to the port or maritime region to which the belligerent applies the hostile blockade is such as to prevent traffic by sea to and from that region without leave of the blockading power, and any vessel or vessels attempting to run the blockade must in all probability be captured by the hostile or blockading squadron, or, in the language of an English chief justice, "In the eye of the law blockade is effective if the enemy's ships are in such number and position as to make running of the blockade a matter of danger, although some vessels may succeed in getting through."

It would appear from the late dispatches that a blockade de facto exists in the Baltic Sea as to nearly all the great ports of Russia. The Kiehl Canal is clearly blockaded, so as to be inoperative as far as mercantile ships are concerned. We may expect a joint proclamation of England and France proclaiming the North Sea ports of the German Empire, either severally, or the whole coast or region, subject to a blockade. We may even fear that the English Channel may itself be placed in that interdicted position, so that no ships can pass through it without the license or leave of a blockading force or squadron.

In a policy of insurance in which the war risk is included, special clauses limit the amount of loss, but the treatment of these matters from a practical standpoint must of necessity be the subject of a later article.

It will be for the authorities of the United States, through its navy, to see that the life and property of American citizens are protected abroad, and, in the language of the Declaration of Independence, to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That the rights of our ships are protected and from time to time to issue proclamations which will be instructions to our merchants as to what will be the proper course for them to pursue, and in what instance they will be protected by our naval forces.

Let us hope that all of the great powers will respect the rights of private property of neutrals at sea to the fullest extent.
